RDINANCE FOR CITY ZONING IS SUBMITTED

derman Edinger Prepares Tentative One Which Is Referred to Mayor and Corporation Counsel.

ATER BOARD GRANTED PERMISSION TO BORROW

unts to Broadcast From City Hall; Big Gong for W. S. Crossing.

Alderman Urban G. Edinger of the inth ward, chairman of the common ouncil city zoning committee, Tues- ay evening at an adjourned meeting f the aldermen held at the city hall ubmitted a tentative city zoning or- inance which he said he had pre- ared after giving the matter of zon- g considerable thought. The tenta- ve ordinance was not read but was eferred to Mayor Block, Corporation ounsel James Jenkins and the laws nd rules committee of the common ouncil. The city fathers granted the ater board permission to borrow 40,000 for improvements to water ystem; allowed the Boy Scouts the se of a room on the third floor of he city hall to install a radio broad- asting outfit; and submitted a num- er of resolutions for street work be- ore adjourning.

All of the members of the common ouncil were present when the meet- ng was called to order by Alderman t-Large Edgar J. Dempsey. Mayor lock and Corporation Counsel Jen- ins were also in attendance at the eeting.

A Broadcasting Station.

Mayor Block sent in a communica- ion to the council recommending that he Boy Scouts be allowed the use of he room on the third floor of the city all formerly used by the superin- endent of the fire alarm system until hat system was installed in its new uilding on East O'Reilly street, to in- tall a radio broadcasting outfit that ad been loaned the Scouts by harles A. Warren.

Alderman Everett brought up the uestion of whether the installation f the radio set would not interfere ith the insurance rates on the city all. It was stated that it would not, ut the station would have to be in- talled under the supervision of the nderwriters' Association.

The mayor also called attention to he fact that this summer members of he Boy Scouts would act as traffic fficers at the city schools.

Clerks Seek Increase.

Miss Jeannette V. Costello, clerk f the city court, Miss Helen R. Mc- anus, clerk to the city treasurer, nd Miss Minnie E. Riseley, clerk to he city assessor, filed applications or an increase in pay.

Mayor Block sent in a communica- ion recommending that all three lerks who are now receiving $1,200 per year be paid at the rate of $1,500 per year, effective May 1. The ayor's recommendation was re- erred to the finance committee to report at the next meeting of the ommon council.

Water Board Wants $40,000.

The board of water commission- rs sent in a communication stating hat the board was installing a new nderdrain filter system and had warded a contract to raise the dam t Cooper's Lake six feet to increase he storage capacity. For this work he board would need about $40,000, nd it asked permission to borrow hat sum, which would be repaid out f the surplus earnings of the board. he request was granted.

Loud Gong on Gates.

Alderman Beichert, of the railroad ommittee, reported that W. D. Del- aplane, Yardmaster of the West hore Railroad, was present at the eeting and Mr. Delaplane was giv- n the privilege of the floor. He tated that the railroad was anxious o do all that was possible to protect he public at the Broadway crossing.

Alderman James J. Sweeney of he Third ward said that he believed he present gong on the crossing ates was not loud enough to be eard and that a bigger and louder ong should be installed to give arning to the public when the gates ere being lowered.

Mr. Delaplane said that a bigger ong would be installed as soon as ossible.

Saving In Coal Bills.

Alderman Everett of the building ommittee reported that the new rates had been installed in the city all heating system and had been iven a trial run of thirty days. With he use of larger sizes of coal 18 ons were burned in thirty days hich at $13 a ton meant an expen- iture of $234. The new grates al- owed the use of yard screenings at $4.50 per ton and 18 tons had been sed the past thirty days at the cost of $81 making a total saving for hat period of $153.

The new system was installed by he Pratt Engineering Company of his city on condition that it be giv- n a thirty day trial run and if it proved all that was claimed that it would be accepted. The cost of in- talling the grates was $1,250, and he bill was referred to the auditing committee.

New Zoning Ordinance.

Alderman Edinger, chairman of he committee on zoning, reported regarding the meeting held with the Chamber of Commerce committee, and he filed with City Clerk Styles a tentative ordinance which he had prepared. It filled twenty-four pages and was not read. It was referred to Mayor Block, Corporation Counsel Jenkins and the laws and rules committee of the council to report back later.

Motions and Resolutions.

The following motions and resolutions were offered by the aldermen and referred to the proper boards and committees:

By Alderman Joy—that a convenient place for taxi drivers be selected to replace the present stand on East Strand between Hasbrouck avenue and Broadway to which the merchants were objecting; that East Pierpont street be repaired at once; that Newkirk avenue, St. Marys' street, and Ann street be repaired.

By Alderman James J. Sweeney—That Lincoln street be repaired at once and that it be lighted between Clifton avenue and Florence street; that Flatbush avenue from the West Shore tracks to the City Home be repaired; that a traffic standard be placed at Broadway and Foxhall avenue.

By Alderman Seitz—That catch basin on Hone street at the head of German street be repaired; that a new grating be placed over catch basin at Broadway and Abeel street as the present one was broken.

By Alderman Fox—That electric light that had been removed from Lindsley avenue near the Terry sand bank be replaced; that an electric light on Locust avenue near Terry's barn had not been lighted in five months and be seen to at once.

By Alderman Flannery — That Dunn street be repaired.

German Street Residents Write.

A petition from residents of German street was read requesting that that street between Ridge street and Ravine street be topdressed and rolled. It was referred to the board of public works.

Bus Committee to Meet.

Alderman Beichert announced that a meeting of the bus committee with the bus owners would be held the evening of April 29 at 7:30 o'clock at the city hall which would be open to the public.

The council then adjourned.

Mary Said She Wanted Lawyer

And Her Trial Was Adjourned for Two Days—Her Husband, John Schebilski, Pleaded Guilty and Was Jailed—Other Cases in Police Court.

"I want a trial and I want to get a lawyer," said Mrs. John Schebilski of No. 10 Sycamore street when arraigned in police court before Judge Robert G. Groves this morning to stand trial on a charge of public intoxication. "You want a lawyer, too," said she turning to her husband, who nodded his head "yes."

"I'll adjourn the hearing for two days and fix the bail at $150 each" observed Judge Groves.

Mr. and Mrs. Schebilski were then escorted from the court room, but ten minutes later John announced he had changed his mind and wanted to plead guilty to disorderly conduct and was taken back into court.

John said that Sunday he and Mary, his wife, had decided to go house hunting as they did not care for their rooms on Sycamore street. They had gone to North Rondout and while visiting a Polish family had been treated to some drinks.

"How about threatening to kill your three young children?" asked Judge Groves.

"I never did," replied John earnestly, "somebody who wants to break up my home told the policeman that."

"Ten days in the county jail," said the court.

"And how much fine?" asked John.

"No fine," replied Judge Groves. "I am giving you a jail sentence."

"If I had known that," muttered John to himself as he was taken back to police headquarters, "I'd have stood a trial and not pleaded guilty.

John had been arrested Sunday night by Policeman Harnen on a charge of disorderly conduct at his home on Sycamore street. An hour earlier his wife, Mary, had been arrested on Jarrold street by Officer Dempsey who said he found her drunk and lying in the road unable to help herself.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock County Judge Fowler will hold a hearing in children's court to determine what disposition to make of the three young Schebilski children. Miss McClure, Catholic charity agent, believes that they should be placed in some institution for their own good.

Cranston Pleaded Guilty.

William Cranston, a local taxi driver, was arrested March 31, by Officer Fout who charged Cranston with a violation of the cab ordinance in soliciting passengers while standing more than five feet away from his car. The case had been adjourned several times and came up for a hearing before Judge Groves today at which time Cranston entered a plea of guilty and was fined $5.

Forfeited His Bail.

Rawson Leigh, a negro residing on the West Hurley road, was arrested Tuesday by Officer Simpson who charged Rawson with parking his car in front of a fire hydrant on Wall street. Leigh furnished bail in the sum of $5 for his appearance in police court today. When he failed to appear the cash bail was forfeited by Judge Groves.

FIVE OTHERS PLEAD GUILTY

Jesse Davis, Gun Toter, and Four Chicken Coop Raiders Each Draw 6-months' Sentence

DRUNKEN DRIVER IS PAROLED

Only Four Jurors For Gohl Trial in Box Tuesday.

Five more defendants were disposed of Tuesday afternoon in county court when they changed their former pleas of not guilty to guilty and were sentenced by County Judge Joseph M. Fowler.

Jesse Davis, colored, upon whom imposition of sentence was postponed Tuesday morning until the afternoon session of court in order that his record might be investigated, was given six months in the county jail. Jesse was caught carrying a gun, a violation of the law which has become very popular with the colored element of the lower part of the city and the brickyard sections along the river.

John Palen, Jesse Heiser, Harry Heiser of this city and Charles D Anriando of West Hurley who were indicted by the grand jury on a charge of burglary also were sentenced to jail for six months when they pleaded guilty to unlawful entry. Judge William D. Brinnier, Jr., who appeared for the Heiser brothers, entered a plea of guilty to the lesser crime and Frank Brooks, who appeared for the other two stated that his clients also wished to plead guilty. This gang of young men was arrested at Highland last February by Deputy Sheriff Lyons of Highland who saw them pushing a broken down automobile down the hill toward the Poughkeepsie ferry. He noticed a number of chickens on the car and questioned them. They stated they had bought the chickens from a man in Montgomery. It happened Lyons knew this particular man and he phoned to find that the chickens had not been bought from him. For a time a number of coops in the vicinity had been raided among them that of Mrs. Crispell at the Hurley Four Corners and that of H. J. Flicker of the town of Ulster. This information was given to Mr. Lyons by the sheriff's office and the four were placed under arrest. Mr. Flicker was able to identify some of the fowls by punch marks as those taken from his coops. The four were arraigned and held for the grand jury. Later they admitted having raided coops in the neighborhood, stating that they sold the chickens in Poughkeepsie and other places. They have been in jail since February 2, 1924. All are young men ranging from 18 to 20 years of age.

Aloysius Bailey, 18, changed his former plea of not guilty to that of guilty of the crime charged through his attorney, Frank W. Brooks, and he was given a sentence of sixty days in the county jail. However, his jail sentence was suspended on condition that he refrain from driving a motor vehicle for six months. Upon his promise to do that he was paroled to report once a month for six months to Probation Officer Service. He was indicted by the grand jury for driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

The selecting of a jury to take up the Gohl murder case occupied the rest of the day and four jurors were secured. The panel of jurors was then exhausted and today when the 40 extra jurymen appeared the matter of selecting twelve men was continued. The selection of the jury took practically all of Monday afternoon and Tuesday.

FARMERS' ORGANIZATION MAY HOLD FIELD DAY HERE.

J. E. Sleight, manager of the organization known as the Farmers and Fruit Growers of the Hudson Valley, at Marlborough, is in Kingston to see what the prospects are for putting on the annual field day day and exhibition of his organization here this summer, probably in August.

Mr. Sleight has conducted these events for several years, mostly at Orange Lake Park, near Newburgh, but last year none was held. Several times the gatherings were held in Kingston and about eight years ago one was held here which was attended by nearly 12,000 people. The events are somewhat similar to a fair, with a great variety of exhibits of products of the soil and manufactured articles and amusements in great number.

Free Party For Children

Keeney Management Next Monday Will Show Crippled and Under-Privileged Ones Jackie Coogan—Everything Free, Including Autos.

The management of Keeney's Theater is going to give a big Easter party at Keeney's Theater on Monday afternoon, April 21, when all of the crippled children of Kingston and vicinity and all orphans or other children who are financially unable to attend the movies will be the guests of the management. The big attraction is little Jackie Coogan in "Long Live The King."

There will be plenty of seats reserved in the best part of the house for the little guests who will be given a real party with all kinds of things to make the children enjoy a real afternoon's pleasure. In order that no crippled child, orphan or other deserving child may be missed the management desires to get the addresses of the children. Any child whom you know who is deserving of this treat will be cared for on Monday afternoon. All names should be submitted to the management. Provisions will be made to call for and bring home any crippled child who is unable to get to the theater. Automobiles will be donated and provision made to care for the child and anyone who accompanies him or her to care for her. In order that a car may be sent it is important that the address be sent in as soon as possible.

Beside the show there will be a real party. Candy, ice cream and perhaps other things will be given to children.

Provision will be made to have police protection. The management wants every deserving child in Kingston and vicinity to see little Jackie Coogan in "Long Live The King." No names will be published so do not hesitate to write the management stating that you will be there. If a child is unable to write parents or friends are requested to arrange so that no deserving child will be overlooked. In writing it is requested that the management be informed if the child has any means of getting to the theater. Everything is going to be free to the crippled children, orphans or other deserving child next Monday afternoon at Keeney's.

Would Break Father's Will

Mrs. J. Wells Weaver Seeks to Set Aside Will by Which She Would Receive $6,000 of Father's Estate.

Objections to the probate of the will of the late Graham E. Hurd, of the town of Lloyd, were filed with Surrogate Kaufman in the surrogate's court today when the matter of proving the last will and testament of Mr. Hurd came on for hearing.

The objections are the usual objections for which provision is made by statute, and allege that the will offered for probate is not the last will and testament of the decedent, that its execution was procured through undue influence and that the decedent was incompetent to make a will at that time.

The contest will be tried before Surrogate Kaufman without a jury on Tuesday, April 29. A. D. & A. W. Lent of Highland appeared for Nina Hurd Weaver, who filed the objections to the will; John N. Vanderlyn of New Paltz appeared for Milford Graham Hurd, the executor. Mrs. Weaver, the contestant, is the wife of J. Wells Weaver of the town of Lloyd.

By his will, Mr. Hurd gives the life use of the estate to his wife, Ethelinda Hurd, at whose death the farm and other property are to be given to their son, Milford Graham Hurd, with the exception of the sum of $6,000, which is given to Nina Hurd Weaver, the daughter. The value of the real estate is $28,000, and the personal property amounts to $9,400.

Col. Forbes Is Indicted

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Baltimore, Md., April 16.—Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the United States veterans' bureau, was indicted today by a federal grand jury here for alleged conspiracy to defraud the United States government.

Indicted with Forbes were Charles P. O'Leary and Nathan Thompson, connected with the Thompson-Kelly Company of New York, Boston, who are alleged to have purchased $3,900,000 worth of surplus property from the veterans' bureau at one-fifth its actual worth.

WORLD FLIGHT LEADER MISSING

Major Martin's Plane Drops Out of Formation Near Aleutian Islands Tuesday Night.

THOUGHT TO BE SAFE

After Having Alighted on Water; Search Is On.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 16.—Major Frederick L. Martin, leader of the army around the world flight, is missing and may have been lost in the Alaskan waters, according to a cablegram received here today by the army air service.

Major Martin was flying second in the formation last night when he dropped out of the flight, according to the message. He was believed to have landed in a bay south of the Aleutian Islands.

Destroyers from Seward have been dispatched to comb the waters for trace of the missing flight leader, the message said, and in addition his comrades are circling the area for sight of him or his machine.

The other three planes landed at Chignik in good condition at 4:30 p. m.

Fifteen More Talesmen Called

To Secure Jury In Gohl Murder Trial —Expect Jury Box To Be Filled Today.

In addition to the 40 extra jurors summoned Tuesday to be in attendance at county court this morning an order was entered directing Sheriff Wells to summon 15 talesmen today. The matter of securing a jury to try the action brought by The People vs. Gohl, a charge of murder second degree, progressed slowly and as many of the jurors summoned from the regular list were excused by the court or were unable to be located by the sheriff's deputies when they endeavored to serve them it was deemed necessary to summon the talesmen in order that the court might continue without interruption. District Attorney Traver at the opening of court urged that talesmen be summoned immediately so as to be on hand at 2 o'clock. The summoning of talesmen was opposed by Walter J. Miller, attorney who was assigned by the court to the defendant Gohl. He urged that the jurors be drawn in the usual manner from the county box. Judge Fowler however ordered the sheriff to summon 15 talesmen so that the work of the court might not be interrupted through the lack of jurors.

A great number of jurors have been examined in the case and either excused by the prosecution or the defence or by challenges which were sustained by the court. It is probable that the twelve jurors will be secured before court adjourns this afternoon.

Home Burns; 6 Children Dead

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Bridgeport, Conn., April 16.—A sixth death resulted this morning from the fire that late last night destroyed the home of Louis Erlich, on Stratford avenue. Victims of the tragedy are all children of Erlich, who is a widower, and are Frederick, 11; Ida, 13, Louis, 10; Raymond, 6; Charles, 5, and Ernest 3½ years old. The father who was burned considerably was discharged from a hospital today about the time death took his son Frederick, the last of the children to die.

Police and fire officials are investigating the cause of the fire which they believe was started by an overheated stove.

Erlich and his son Samuel slept in one bedroom and the rest of his children in other rooms on the second floor. Wakened by smoke Erlich and Samuel made desperate efforts to reach the rest of the family. Suffering from burns the father and son were driven from their home and forced to stand outside and watch the flames sweep through the youngsters' rooms.

REPUBLICANS OF STATE VIRTUALLY PLEDGE DELEGATES TO COOLIDGE

His Calm and Poise Are Qualities World Most Needs, Says Platform—Program Put Through as Planned in One of Shortest Sessions on Record.

Platform at G.O.P. Convention

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 16.—Endorsement of the administration of President Coolidge and "loyal support in his efforts to preserve honest administration," was pledged today by the Republican state convention, meeting in Town Hall.

"He has shown unfaltering courage in dealing with the problems which confronted him" declared the final paragraph in the platform, adopted before the close of the two day session. "We commend the calm and poise with which he meets each situation as it arises, and his firmness in adhering to the course which his judgment approves regardless of considerations of political expediency and we submit that these are the very qualities of which our country and the world stand in greatest need at the present time."

This declaration, interpreted by the delegates as a demand for the return of the president to the White House for another term, caused a demonstration.

The platform was devoted to pointing out improvements in economic conditions under the Republican national administration, foreign relations and a section dealing with "the integrity of our government."

President Has Acted.

"Any wrong doing and corruption must be sought out and destroyed," the platform declared. "The senate investigation, ordered by Republican and Democratic senators alike, disclosed facts upon which the president has acted in a manner to insure the impartial, energetic and orderly prosecution of any one guilty of wrong doing and the righting of any wrong done the government.

"The failure of one or two individuals, however gross, must not be allowed to reflect on the honor and integrity of the government itself or on that of the thousands of patriotic men who devote their lives to public service, which has impeded the public business, insulted the justice of the people and lowered the dignity and standing of the senate."

On foreign relations, the platform declared, "the world knows just where America stands, how far we can go, where we must stop."

Cooperation, Not Alliance.

"We are opposed to all alliances * * * * but our cooperation in the furtherance of the aims of peace and justice and the re-establishment of sound economic conditions is a distinctive feature of our policy."

The platform endorsed the foreign policies of President Coolidge as outlined in his annual message to congress.

The platform made only a single reference to state affairs—calling attention to the establishment of an "effective state budget." Expenditures were cut two billion dollars; the public debt materially reduced and the worst and most oppressive of the war taxes repealed or reduced in 1921," the platform said of national finances.

Adoption of the Mellon tax reduction plan was urged and Democrats condemned for opposing it for "partisan purposes."

Coolidge His Own Platform

His Character Guarantee, Says Hughes in Keynote Speech—Punishment for Rascals Promised—G. O. P. Achievements Recounted.

Secretary of State Hughes, at the Republican convention at Town Hall, New York city, Tuesday night, delivered the keynote speech of the Republican campaign. It is generally understood that President Coolidge endorses every word Mr. Hughes uttered.

Town Hall was jammed with delegates and spectators, who followed the secretary's address intently.

Secretary Hughes, speaking for the president, promised:

1—Speedy punishment to those found guilty in the oil scandal, irrespective of party affiliations, and while denying that Republicans were implicated, he charged that "the corrupting currency may be found in Democratic satchels."

2—Continued effort to bring about tax reductions. Responsibility for delay, he charged, "must rest with those who oppose the plans and not upon those who proposed it."

3—No effort will be made to revive the League of Nations. He asserted that "those among us who wish to involve this country in the political controversies of Europe are in a hopeless minority."

4—The United States, however, will not become isolated. His words were not "Independence—that does not means and never meant isolation. Cooperation—that does not mean and never has meant alliance or political entanglements."

Secretary Hughes delivered a glowing eulogy of President Coolidge who, he said "is his own platform," whose program is that of "national economy, of retrenchment in expenditure and reduction in taxation."

Mr. Hughes's speech was interrupted frequently by long continued applause.

Investigation Of Pear Thrips

Hudson Valley Fruit Investigation Squad Conducting Investigations Whose Purpose Is To Prevent Destruction.

Investigation of orchard conditions in the Hudson river counties with special reference to pear thrips, the destructive insects affecting pear orchards which first appeared in this section in 1905 and which work so rapidly as often to destroy an entire crop within twenty-four hours, is under way by C. C. Wagoner, Ulster county spray service man; Dr. Frank H Lathrop, entomologist of the Hudson valley fruit investigations, and G. E. R Hervey of Nova Scotia, now spray service man of Dutchess county.

The first work of the fruit investigation squad was undertaken this year in Columbia county and followed up in Orange and Dutchess counties as the insects emerged. The squad is now at work in Ulster county.

To The Freeman, members of the squad explained the situation with clearness for the benefit of Ulster county fruit growers.

The time of application of the spray for the control of pear thrips in the Hudson Valley depends upon the time of appearance of the adult thrips on the developing pear buds. The thrips usually appear on the pear buds just as the pale yellow areas begin to show at the base of the bud scales. This season in most of the fruit growing sections of the Hudson Valley the emergence of the thrip has been somewhat delayed, probably, on account of the low soil temperatures. However, the development of the pear buds themselves has been proceeding at a more nearly normal rate, so that they have reached a development slightly more advanced than is usual at the time the thrips first appear.

Warm weather within the next few days should bring the thrips out in numbers. Fruit growers who have experienced thrips injury in their orchards during previous seasons should keep close watch upon their trees and stand ready to apply control measures should the thrips appear in injurious numbers. The standard recommendations for the control of pear thrips is as follows: Miscible oil 3 gallons; nicotine sulfate (40 per cent), 1 pint; water to make 100 gallons. This spray should be applied as a driving mist, using 200 to 300 pounds pressure, taking care to drive it well into the buds.

The pear thrips spends the winter in the dormant state in minute cells in the upper few inches of the soil in infested orchards. On bright warm days in the early spring as the year buds are about to burst the adult thrips emerge from the soil. These minute blackish, winged insects fly to the developing year buds which they enter as soon as the bud scales separate sufficiently. Here they attack the young tissues and produce serious injury to the developing fruit blossoms by their activities.

If the development of the buds is slow at the time of the thrips attack, destructive results are sure to follow. If, however, the emergence of the thrips is delayed and the development of the fruit buds is rapid, the trees may overcome the thrips attack to a considerable extent and the loss of fruit may not be severe.

The first outbreaks of pear thrips to attract the attention of commercial growers in the east was in the Hudson valley and it still remains one of the pests particularly injurious to this section.

The Spray Service men and the Farm Bureau managers of the various counties affected are keeping the progress of the insect under close observation. Control experiments are being made by the experts of the Hudson valley fruit investigations who are seeking new methods of combating insect pests and plant diseases of the valley growers who are in doubt about the necessity of spraying for this pest or who desire other information should communicate with their respective Spray Service men or Farm Bureau managers who will supply additional information.

NEW PALTZ.

New Paltz, April 16.—Mrs. James Thorne of Wallkill has been visiting her sister, Mrs Elizabeth Van Keuren, on Eltinge avenue.

Miss Eliza Marks and Miss Sara Deyo have returned home.

The many friends of Mrs. Joseph E Hasbrouck of Modena are very grateful for her kindness in sending papers from Fort Lauderdale, Fla., where she has been spending the winter.

The 3-B grade entertained the 3-A grade Friday at an Easter party, which celebrated the last day of the quarter. An entertainment was given and refreshments served. The party was greatly enjoyed by all the kiddies.

Miss Dorothy Giddings expects to accompany her mother to New York for a few days and from there to Flemington, N. J.

A camping party went for a hike last Saturday afternoon. Those in the party were the Misses Olds, Plaff, Deane, Hough, Havens and Wadsworth. Supper was enjoyed around a camp fire over which, by the aid of a full camping outfit, they fried eggs and made genuine southern cornbread. Everyone reported having a fine time.

Sunset Inn, the large boarding house of Edward Rider on upper Main street, will be open for guests on May 1.

Mrs. D. A. Hasbrouck entertained at an Easter luncheon one day the past week.

J. E. Vanderlyn is recovering nicely from his injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wright and daughters, Lulu and Mildred, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Currey at Grahamsville. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Ingraham were also guests at Mr. and Mrs. Currey's on the same day.

Mrs. F. Guinac and children spent Saturday in Poughkeepsie.

MAUBIN PARADISE FOR MOSQUITOES

Number and Size Unsurpassed Anywhere Else.

It is said that Maubin, in Burma, evinces its greatest claim to notice, or rather notoriety, in the quantity and kind of mosquitoes it contains. These in number and size, as well as virulent activity, we are assured by competent authority, are unsurpassed anywhere else in the world.

One's first visit to Maubin in the mosquito season is an experience. Not able to wait till the tourist arrives, a large detachment swarms out to meet him, coming over the ship's side in hordes and, like an irresistible army, occupying every fraction of its surface. They hang in festoons from the white awnings, the mosquito nets, the table linen and the punkah flaps. In fact, they cover every object on which they can secure a footing.

A European house in Maubin has its every window—and in the tropics there is an infinity of windows—protected by sliding curtains of iron gauze, as does also every ventilator under the eaves, every open space between the room partitions and the roof. For the sake of air, such places are large and frequent, but not one is left unbarred against invasion. In some houses there is a special room, a kind of inner citadel and last refuge, which is wholly of iron gauze, and within it the master of the house sits, like a loon in a cage.

To enter this fortress in advance of the enemy calls for the exercise of agility of a high order. Outside the cage the light cavalry of the enemy hovers. The man within this strange castle observes your approach with furtive and anxious eyes. He begs you to be careful in entering. Immediately you enter he falls with savage onslaught on such of the enemy as come on your back, in your hair, in the crenses of your clothes.

While mosquitoes monopolize Maubin, Maubin has not a monopoly on the mosquito market. In fact, the more tropical parts of the world do not have a corner on the pests. For in the Arctic in Alaska, in latitude 71 degrees north, the pest must be reckoned with. They fairly rain down on a defenseless head.

Few Babies Born in Homes

Seeking out the birthplace of Americans is a practice destined to disappear, according to the present trend of birth statistics. Figures gathered by physicians and health agencies show that the percentage of babies born at home is steadily falling off, with a corresponding increase in births at maternity hospitals. In many communities throughout the United States, it was said at the recent convention of the American College of Surgeons, more than a quarter of the children are hospital-born. In certain localities the figure is as high as 75 per cent. The New York Nursery and Child's hospital has completed a survey of facilities for maternity service on the upper West side, in which it was found that an increasing number of women are having their babies at the hospital. John R. Howard, Jr., superintendent, pointed out that while only 31 ward cases of every 100 attended by the hospital's physicians in 1916 were handled at the hospital the number now is 57 out of every 100.

Supply Exceeds Demand

There was an imperious ring at the front door bell which caused Jones to go rushing to open it, as he expected to find some important visitors on the doorstep.

He was quite angry when he found that it was only a canvasser selling stationery.

"Any notepaper today, sir?" inquired the canvasser.

"No, none," answered Jones shortly.

"Any pencils?"

"No."

"Try one of our cheap fountain pens. The demand exceeds the supply."

Jones looked at his ink-stained fingers ruefully and then held them out for the canvasser's inspection.

"My experience of cheap fountain pens," he said angrily, "is that the supply exceeds the demand."

His Last Excuse

The colonel was playing his daily round of golf, but, as usual, he was pretty badly off his game. At the second hole he foozled his drive and cursed the condition of the green. And so the game progressed, the colonel making mistakes galore and finding a new excuse for each one of them.

At the fifteenth hole he foozled a beautiful brassie lie, but by now he was absolutely devoid of excuses. With bristling mustache he glared round about him, and then bellowed, as he observed the sea in the distance: "How the devil can any man be expected to play decent golf with all these blasted ships sailing up and down?" — Sporting and Dramatic News.

Absolutely

At a lecture, the speaker orated fervently: "He drove straight to his goal. He looked neither to the right nor to the left, but pressed forward, moved by a definite purpose. Neither friend nor foe could delay him, nor turn him from his course. All who crossed his path did so at their own peril. What would you call such a man?"

"A truck driver!" shouted a voice from the audience.—Forbes' Magazine.

When Mother Pays the Bills

by The Veteran Motorist

WHEN my wife first began to drive the car, I told her that I would make her responsible for the whole thing, which included paying the bills out of a definite allowance for upkeep.

Of course, like all fond husbands, I expected that I would have to make up a deficit. But, much to my surprise, after the first few months of experimentation on her part with various gasolines and oils, there was literally nothing for me to pay. In fact, the last two months she has been showing a slight credit balance!

The secret is that mother has kept a comparative record of her upkeep, and she has found that dollar for dollar, gallon for gallon, she gets the maximum of power and efficiency out of Socony Gasoline and Socony Motor Oil.

That's one reason why, to my mind, Socony is the favorite brand of discriminating women drivers, because "when mother pays the bills," there can be no camouflaging the expense.

VALUABLE EQUIPMENT GIVEN CITY LIBRARY.

Pamphlets on Flower and Vegetable Growing Available.

The Kingston City Library has been presented with a handsome vertical file for collections of clippings and pictures, which will be very valuable for up-to-date material for use in reference work.

Books on gardens, wild flowers and birds are now on exhibition at the library. In addition there is a fine display of seed and flower catalogues for the present year.

At the request of the librarian the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca has sent a collection of pamphlets on such subjects as the flower and vegetable garden, culture of fruits and berries and special bulletins on the more favorite flowers as peonies, roses, sweet peas, asters, gladioli, etc. These bulletins will be given away to any desiring them. They are illustrated and authoritative.

FOURTH BINNEWATER.

Fourth Binnewater, April 16.—The Ladies' Aid of this place are doing some fine work in redecorating the interior of the old chapel. They have furnished all the paints and have new pulpit furniture, rug and runners for the aisles. They expect to have it ready for Easter services. The ladies also wish to heartily thank all the men who did the painting and other work. Also the ladies of the place who helped with the cleaning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Freer and son, Arthur, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. M. Freer. Also Oral Deits and sister, Mary, and Irvin Bush were callers.

W. Countryman and son, Floyd, of High Falls spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. George Walton.

Grandpa Freer is out again enjoying the fresh spring air after being in all winter. He is fine and enjoying good health.

Frank Monahan and Lewis Lasher of Poughkeepsie called on friends in this place Sunday.

Mrs. Floyd Deits and daughter, Mary, were callers in this place Monday.

H. Freer and B. Pine, the contractors and builders, with their men, F. Pine and M. Freer, have started work again. They started Monday morning to break ground for a grand big house on Janet street in Kingston for R. Kraft.

The Ladies' Aid held their monthly business meeting last Thursday at the home of Mrs. B. Davis of Cottekill.

Mrs. J. Freer and baby, Zona, are out again after being confined to the house all winter.

John Clark of Poughkeepsie visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Clark over the week end.

Floyd Deits and family motored to Stone Ridge and Marbletown Sunday afternoon.

Robert Freer and family of Lomontville motored to see his sister, Mrs. Floyd Deits, and family, on Sunday.

Floyd Deits and George Walton have purchased a Ford touring car to convey them to their work in Kingston.

Satin Frock Trimmed With Dainty Ecru Lace

This attractive frock of black satin is modishly trimmed with ecru lace, affording an outfit highly pleasing to many women.

Things That Will Be of Interest to Women

Turn about is fair play. The little frocks for the young girl which have had mottoes in French embroidered upon them now have mottoes in English. One designer has "All's well that ends well" and similar remarks in white on navy frocks.

Tassels, which came in with the Chinese mode, have now reached shoes. Among the unusual pumps shown in Paris is one of black suede with two tiny gold tassels on the vamp.

Powder blue now worn by a number of stage favorites, is immensely popular in London. With it the discerning woman places a bit of black. One powder-blue hat was made striking by little black ostrich tips upright around the small brim, like tiny black pine trees.

In imitation of Luxor treasure chests, London women are carrying wrist bags of lightweight wood or of materials that imitate wood. The bags, shaped like chests, are hand-painted with bright designs.

Navy blue, a fashionable shade for spring is found to be combined with platinum gray this season. There are ever more attractive color combinations. Platinum gray suede shoes will be worn a good deal with navy tailleur.

Most of the smartest spring top-coats have no pockets or belt on the [illegible] ribbons inside to [illegible] too much flapping [illegible] is a dinky [illegible] frilled, in the [illegible] little cloth [illegible] side of the [illegible] Many such [illegible] belt that goes [illegible] the waist.

Notes of Interest to All Women Who Care

[illegible] effective of the Paris [illegible] that of extending [illegible] in a ribbon across the [illegible] trimming the ribbon with [illegible] rosebuds.

Cherry is one of the vivid shades being used fortunately with discretion, this spring. Upon costumes of black and white, a touch of cherry embroidery is immensely effective.

Shoes very long and pointed with high heels against which the "sensible" woman rails—these are among the London spring showings. Often the shoes fasten with one strap and this around the ankle.

The newest bathing suits are marvels of color and design and one beach cape is of ocean green satin, with motifs of bathing groups around the edge.

A new corset shown is pretty nearly lighter than air. Of thin silk brocade, it is only five inches wide and fastens with four silk elastic loops in back. It is edged with tiny silk flowers.

One prominent New York shop is illustrating the possibilities of the new silk kerchief as a sash, a muffler and as an Ascot tie with severely tailored suit worn with a plain crepe de chine skirt.

Striking Embroideries on Skirts for Evening

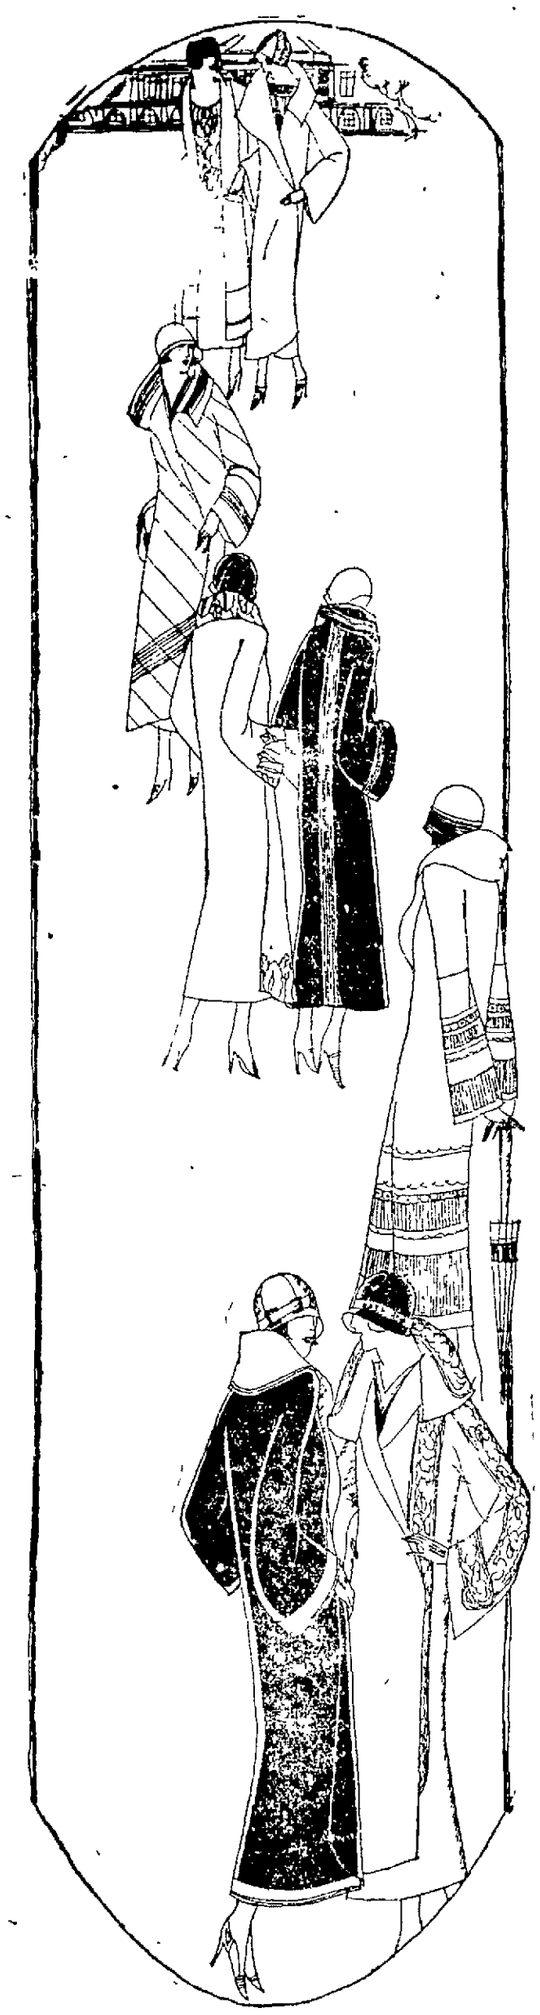

Big splashes of embroidery massed, usually as a skirt border, are another type of decoration for evening dresses. This work sometimes consists of flowers cut from the fabric—most often metal cloth appliqued in high relief, a la pompadour. Huge sprays of flowers, long branches of foliage, trellised designs, which sometimes look like hollyhocks or sunflowers growing along a garden wall, lend a brilliant splash of color to an otherwise perfectly simple dress. In some models these striking embroideries start from a point of drapery on one side of the hip, seemingly holding in place the folds which wrap the figure. No touch of this ornamentation appears on the corsage.

KINGSTON, N. Y., APRIL 16, 1924.

London is greatly disturbed because there have been a dozen holdups by bandits there in three months. Most of our big American cities beat that record every fortnight.

It is predicted that in five years women of fashion will use neither paint nor powder. Certainly a back-to-nature movement would seem to be in order, in view of the forbidding extremes now seen on every hand.

A harp has been unearthed on the banks of the Euphrates dating back 3700 years. That was fully a thousand years before the captive Jews hung their harps on the willows "by the rivers of Babylon" because they had no heart to sing the songs of Zion in a strange land.

THE NEW CORN-BORER PEST.

Another pest has invaded the United States and is making its way across the country. Coming out of Mexico, the boll weevil slowly advanced until it had preyed upon the entire cotton belt, with results that disturbed economic conditions the world over and revolutionized cotton culture. It is said that practical application of the advice of entomologists would have stopped the progress of the boll weevil, but it was either unheeded or remained too long ignored. Whether the disaster has taught the whole country a lesson remains to be seen. The new pest is the corn-borer, scientifically named Pyrausta nubilalis. It arrived in a shipment of broom corn from Italy or Hungary as far back as 1917 and began its work of destruction in Massachusetts. It got past the farmers in that state, occupied areas in New York, reached Michigan and Ohio, and is gradually moving westward into the great corn belt.

With the history of the boll weevil as a warning, alarm was taken more promptly in this instance, but it does not appear that the protective measures were as widely begun as was needful. Now we read that "a great campaign is being planned along a front in northern Ohio," that [illegible] the leadership of an entomological strategist from the United States Bureau, agronomists and county farm agents and entomologists from several corn producing states, as well as from national laboratories, will not only resist the advance of this pestiferous horde but will try to drive it out of the country altogether." It is to be hoped that the effort of these forces will not slacken, that the fight will be persistent, and that it will be crowned with success. But it is seven years since 1917 and it looks as if a really determined battle was too slow to begin, just as in the case of the boll weevil. Yet it is better to start late than not all.

FARM AND LABOR PROBLEMS.

Is it unrests, disinclination toward farm labor, or lack of profit that speeds the movement from country to city? Whatever it is, the figures are startling. According to the showing recently placed before President Coolidge by several national organizations of agriculturists, the movement of farmers from the land to the towns and cities went on throughout 1923 at the rate of 100,000 a month, or not less than 1,200,000 for the year. Moreover, the Department of Agriculture has statistics showing that nearly a quarter of the farms of the United States have been abandoned in the last three years, and many more are held by their occupants merely through the sufferance of their creditors. All this accounts for the McNary-Haugan bill, which is said to have originated in the councils of some of the farm organizations, and which would export the surplus crops, then protect the home market for the normal quantity of American production, and through this controlled supply let the home price of farm products rise equally with manufactures toward pre-war prices.

How this plan will work out remains to be seen. As is well known, the expected often fails to happen, as when President Coolidge raised the tariff 12 cents on wheat only to see the price drop lower instead of rising. Incidentally it is worthy of note that the migration of more than a million farmers annually to the towns may be expected to affect Labor interests much more than immigration as restricted to the admission of 300,000 a year. Obviously the farm problem is complicating the labor problem and the two are more closely associated than is generally supposed.

ANOTHER THOUGHT OF ONE SIDED HEADACHE.

Every time a discovery is made in the field of medicine, one is apt to think that practically everything is now known of the causes and treatment of every disorder.

And yet I've been thinking lately of the tremendous number of people who complain of headache, and particularly that one sided headache that is so common.

In fact one writer some years ago, after compiling statistics carefully, stated that there were at least one million people in the United States and Canada who suffered more or less severely with this trouble.

It is a most distressing ailment. A most intense pain in or over one eye, accompanied by nausea and vomiting, and very often by a peculiar numbness in the leg or arm on the same side of the body.

This trouble was first brought to the attention of the profession nearly one hundred and fifty years ago.

Have they found out the cause?

Not as yet.

It does seem strange that the cause of such a simple series of symptoms should not be known in this enlightened age.

All sorts of theories have been advanced from eye strain, to insufficient room in the skull for the brain, but nothing has really been proven.

However certain things have been noted. It happens more often in women than in men. It occurs with a certain degree of regularity.

It is hereditary frequently.

Where both parents have been victims, the trouble comes on early in their children. Ordinarily it does not come on until after twenty years of age, and is not found often after fifty.

The pain is so intense that physicians have found it necessary to use morphine.

There can be no question that many drug addicts can trace their downfall to the use of morphine to allay this terrific pain.

Further, although many physicians attributed the trouble to the leading of a sedentary or quiet life, I have found it most frequently in people who went to extremes in everything they did, whether it was work or play.

Excesses are a big factor.

The fact that more than ninety per cent of these cases admit constipation, is the only real knowledge we have as to a possible cause.

The treatment is obvious.

The Origin Of Chautauqua

Much has been said as to the origin of Chautauqua and a great many inquiries have been made regarding the Chautauqua which will be put on in Kingston by the Kingston Kiwanis Club from August 4th to 11th, next.

During the summer of 1874, Bishop John H. Vincent called a conference of Sunday school workers at the camp meeting grounds on the shore of Lake Chautauqua, Chautauqua county, New York. Popular entertainment and recreation were soon introduced, and the instruction was extended to cover every subject from cooking to Sanskrit. The work grew in popularity and in usefulness until Chautauqua Institution, as the parent organization is officially known, has property valued at a million dollars, a summer course of instruction covering 200 subjects in thirteen departments of study, a course of popular lectures and entertainments running eight weeks, organized recreation, including almost every known form of physical and social activity, and a popular year-round reading course, with many thousands of readers. The summer population at Chautauqua, N. Y., reaches 20,000. As a summer place, it is America's most typical resort, where the most representative Americans from every state in the Union, gather for recreation, for instruction, or for both.

There are perhaps a hundred resort Chautauquas, patterned after the parent institution, and there are probably 9,000 circuit Chautauquas, which have taken the name and some of the ideals of Chautauqua Institution. The circuit Chautauqua brings to people in their home town as much of the Chautauqua idea as can be crowded into a seven-day program for people who continue to carry on their daily work.

Roosevelt has called Chautauqua "The most American thing in America."

Better Burgevin Salesrooms.

Valentin Burgevin, Inc., florists, have completed improvements to the addition to their salesroom, corner Main and Fair street, now also occupying the adjoining large rooms formerly used as a broker's office. Several large tables have been installed which are loaded with hundreds of potted spring plants that with the beautiful flowers presents a beautiful picture to pedestrians on Fair street, who stop and look through the large plate glass window at the flowers.

Just What He Wanted

The lady shopper had ordered about everything hauled down from the shelves.

"I don't see just the right thing," she decided at last. "I want to surprise my husband on his birthday."

"Well," suggested the exhausted clerk, "why don't you hide behind a chair and yell 'Boo!' at him?"

And He Said ??-!-!!!*

Lady (calling the electric light plant)—The lights in my house have all gone out.

Superintendent—Yes, madam. A parrot got caught in the dynamo.

Lady—Oh, how shocking!

Superintendent—You'd have thought so if you'd heard what he said.

HARRY THAW OPENS FIGHT FOR LIBERTY.

REV. DR. J. O. WARFIELD, MRS. MARY C. THAW & HARRY THAW

The smile of hope playing upon their faces, Mrs. Mary C. Thaw and her son, Harry K., slayer of Stanford White, were greeted in a Philadelphia court by Rev. Dr. J. O. Warfield as Thaw opened his fight to secure his release from the madhouse. In this picture Thaw is shown as a powerful man physically, towering above the minister and Mrs. Thaw, who herself is not small.

SUPREME COURT, ULSTER COUNTY—WILLIAM D. BRINNIER, JR., Plaintiff, against FRANK D. PATTERSON and ELIZABETH PATTERSON, Defendants. TO THE ABOVE NAMED DEFENDANTS: YOU ARE HEREBY SUMMONED to answer the complaint in this action, and to serve a copy of your answer, or, if the complaint is not served with this summons, to serve a notice of appearance, on the plaintiff's attorney within twenty days after the service of this summons, exclusive of the day of service. In case of your failure to appear or answer, judgment will be taken against you by default for the relief demanded in the complaint.

Trial to be held in the County of Ulster. Dated this 20th day of February, 1924.

ROSCOE V. ELSWORTH.
Attorney for Plaintiff, Office and Post Office Address, 53 John street, Kingston, N. Y.

TO THE DEFENDANTS: FRANK D PATTERSON AND ELIZABETH PATTERSON:

The foregoing summons is served upon you by publication pursuant to an order of Hon. Joseph M. Fowler, County Judge of Ulster County, dated the 9th day of April, 1924, and filed on that day with the complaint in the office of the Clerk of the County of Ulster in the City of Kingston, State of New York.

The object of this action is to obtain possession together with damages for the withholding and use and occupation of the following described property:

ALL THAT TRACT OR PARCEL OF LAND SITUATE IN THE City of Kingston, County of Ulster and State of New York, lying and being on the west side of Manor avenue, bounded and described as follows:

BEGINNING on the westerly side of Manor avenue at the bounds of the lot formerly of E. W. Ruddington now Gregory, being the southeasterly corner of the premises hereby conveyed, and running thence along the northerly bounds of said Gregory lot south eighty-one degrees west two hundred and sixty-eight and forty-two hundredths feet to the easterly bounds of lands of William TenBroeck; thence along the bounds of said TenBroeck north six degrees west one hundred and fifty-eight and four-tenths feet to a stake in a ditch; thence along the northeasterly bounds of said TenBroeck south seventy-six degrees fifty-five minutes west five hundred and thirty-four and thirty-five hundredths feet more or less to a stake; thence along the bounds of said TenBroeck's land south seven degrees forty-seven minutes east two hundred and eight and fifty-six hundredths feet to a stake; thence along bounds of lands formerly of Fraleigh south eighty-three degrees fifty minutes west one hundred and eighty-five and forty-six hundredths feet to a stone; thence along bounds of lands of William TenBroeck north eight degrees forty minutes west five hundred and sixty-three and sixty-four hundredths feet to a post at a ditch; thence north seventy one degrees forty minutes east one hundred and seventy-five and fifty-six hundredths feet to a post at a ditch in the bounds of Charles Gray; thence along bounds of land of Charles Gray south fourteen degrees east one hundred eighty-five and forty six hundredths feet to a stake; thence still along bounds of lands of Charles Gray, north seventy-two degrees forty-three minutes east five hundred and forty-five and fifty-seven hundredths feet more or less to a post in the westerly line of the lands now or formerly of Collier; thence along bounds of lands of said Collier south ten degrees six minutes east one hundred and twenty and six tenths feet more or less to an old stake at the southwesterly corner of said Collier's lands; thence north eighty one degrees twenty minutes east along the southerly bounds of said Collier's land to Manor avenue aforesaid; thence along said Manor avenue south nine degrees fifteen minutes east two hundred and eighty-eight and forty-two hundredths feet to the point or place of beginning. Containing about six and eight tenths acres be the same more or less.

Subject, however, to any right of way over or through the same owned or used by the heirs or their grantees of Abraham TenBroeck, deceased, in passing to and from their adjoining lands.

Together with all rights of way owned by the parties of the first part to and from said premises.

Being the same premises conveyed by William F. Freer and others to John G. Van Etten by deed dated June 24th, 1918, and recorded in Ulster County Clerk's office on June 24, 1919, in Deed Book No. 406, page 158.

Dated, Kingston, New York, April 9th, 1924.

New Members on Health Board

Mrs. Thomas J. Hickey of No. 445 Broadway and Mrs. Conrad E. Hasbrouck of No. 28 Stuyvesant street, have been appointed members of the board of health by Mayor Morris Block in the place of Dr. Mary Gage-Day and Mrs. Hattie B. Michael, whose terms of office expired March 31. The appointments were approved by the common council at its session Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Michael was the first woman to be appointed on the board of health. She became a member of that board under the Irwin administration and had served ever since. Dr. Day was appointed a member of the board under the Canfield administration.

DIGNITY WOVEN INTO THE DINNER GOWN.

(By Eleanor Gunn.)

As spring blossoms into summer, one may be excused a waning interest in evening gowns. While to many they are a necessity, they are of less importance than in the cold in the winter.

Here is a Parisian conception of an evening gown that refuses to hoist its waistline and therefore ignores the Directoire charming enough in its way, but an unfortunate choice for women who have taken on weight with the years. The model chosen should make an appeal to women who require dignity of line. It is made of taffeta in a soft tone of the banana shades and has a decorative floral embroidery done in the narrowest of metal and multicolored ribbon.

Among the newer embroidery motifs may be mentioned laurel and empire wreaths and although they are a season or two old, ostrich and peacock feather designs are worked out in many delightful ways, rhinestones, beads, metal threads and ribbon among them.

Hardly a woman exists who feels that she can get through a season summer or winter without at least one black dinner gown, which has a flesh colored lining or one which is enlivened by a bright bit of colored embroidery or a brilliant sash.

The colored sash is to the evening gown almost what the colored scarf is to the sports dress, although scarfs are in good standing in the ball room. Women are once more acknowledging the charm of bare shoulders veiled with tulle.

For evening the newer scarfs are handpainted, on crepe or chiffon and have the crudest or softest colorings according to one's personal preference in such matters. Bakst might have designed and certainly did inspire many of them. Vivid purples, greens and cerise, orange and strong blues are subtly blended in these designs. Wool embroidered crepe scarfs and shawls are another stunning accessory for piazza wear.

RONDOUT PRESBYTERIAN LADIES' AID ELECTION

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Rondout Presbyterian Church was held Tuesday afternoon in the chapel at which time Miss Katherine O. Van Keuren was elected president; Mrs. E. G. Comstock, vice president; Mrs. William Metcalf, secretary, and Mrs. Louis Beeres, treasurer. The reports of the officers showed that the society had enjoyed a most prosperous year. It was decided to hold the annual turkey dinner and fair in the chapel on November 18 and 19. The annual strawberry festival will be held in the chapel some time in June.

Ancient Chinese City

An aerial survey of the land located near the present tower of I-Chow, 60 miles southwest of Peking, indicates that the site at one time contained a city of considerable importance antedating written history.

"Crucifixion" at Redeemer Church

Boy Choir of St. John's and Mixed Choir of Redeemer to Unite for Unusual Service on Good Friday.

A musical and religious event of unusual appeal and significance will take place on Good Friday evening at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, when the combined choirs of that congregation and of St. John's Episcopal Church will sing Stainer's "Crucifixion." This Lenten cantata, without doubt the most popular and widely sung of religious compositions of this character, has not lost any of its stirring appeal with Kingston church goers. It has been sung several times during the Lenten season for several years past and has already been twice rendered as a whole and a number of times in part by the local churches this season. Nevertheless it has invariably been sung to large and attentive congregations.

What will make it a feature of unusual appeal at the Redeemer Church will be the fact that behind the combined choirs of these two churches, numbering among them some of the best voices in Kingston, will be Redeemer's splendid organ with Prof. Frederick Richens, former organist of the church and the present incumbent at St. John's, at the console. He has already demonstrated himself to be a master interpreter of the great religious compositions. This organ, one of the newest and best within a radius of many miles of Kingston, has a number of fine features which lend themselves most admirably to appealing orchestral effects and Prof. Richens has been successful in making this available without obtruding his accompaniment beyond his chorus or soloist.

The service will be strictly devotional. The atmosphere created by the robed choir in an opening processional, a responsive reading of versicles and psalm, the character of the cantata itself will be sufficient to secure this for the large congregation that is expected. The choir itself is unusual, in its composition, consisting as it does of the entire boy choir of St. John's Church and the regular choir of the Redeemer. The soloists are Messrs. LaTour and Pierson. The service will begin at 7:45 and will be preceded by an organ recital in keeping with the character of the service. The numbers selected for this recital are: Meditation-Elegy by Borowski; Marche Funebre by Guilmant and Choral Prelude on "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross" by Parry. The chimes will ring thirty minutes before the service begins. The public is cordially invited.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Pretty "Dance or Evening" Frock

4715. Tulle, organdy, chiffon and crepe de chine are desirable materials for this design. Changeable taffeta would also be attractive. As illustrated the dress was made of peach color crepe de chine, with colored pipings of satin, and embroidered chiffon for the yoke portions. A rosette of chiffon and narrow braided girdle finish the waistline.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 14, 16, 18 and 20 years. A 16 year size requires 3½ yards of 32 inch material.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies and Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

You can get a new Glenwood TODAY and pay for it month by month

HOLY WEEK AT THE CHURCH OF THE COMFORTER.

Preaching services will be held at the Church of the Comforter Wednesday and Thursday evenings. On Wednesday evening the Rev. Charles W. Smith, pastor of the Hurley Reformed Church, will preach the sermon. On Thursday evening the Rev. George W. Gulick of Ulster Park will be the preacher. On Friday evening the sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered. These services will begin at 7:30 and a cordial invitation is extended not only to members of the church but the people of the community to attend these services.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held at the home of Mrs. Conklin, 129 Highland avenue, on Friday afternoon at 2:30.

Plans are being made for inspirational and joyous services next Sunday, with appropriate sermons and a splendid musical program by the choir. Every member of the church is asked to be present if possible. The public is also invited.

Elmendorf St. Church Dedication.

The dedicatory services of the new Sunday school building and community house of the First Presbyterian Church will be held at 10:30 next Sunday morning. The Hummel boys will give three numbers at the service and special Easter music will be given by the choir. There will be no solicitation for money but it is hoped that the Easter thank offering will be large. All are invited to this community service.

CITY TREASURER'S OFFICE SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that I have received the warrant for collection of the special assessment of 75 per cent of the expense incurred in the construction of a Sanitary Sewer in Elizabeth Street, commencing at a point in the center of Maiden Street and Elizabeth Street and running thence through the center of said Elizabeth Street for a distance of 149 feet to a connection with the existing sewer in Washington Avenue.

The same has been left with me for collection at my office in the City Hall, in said City; that for thirty days from the date of this notice the said assessment may be paid without additional fees or charges, and for the twenty succeeding days two per centum additional will be collected.

If any of the said special assessment shall remain unpaid at the time last mentioned, I shall give a written or printed notice to the person or persons against whom such assessment stands charged, requiring them to pay such unpaid assessment to me at my office within thirty days thereafter, with five per centum fees thereon and one dollar for such notice as required by the City Charter.

Dated at the Treasurer's Office, City of Kingston, N. Y., April 5, 1924.

Service at Holy Cross Thursday

The Thursday of Holy Week is the day of the institution of the Last Supper by Jesus Christ. In thousands of churches throughout the world the solemnities which have grown up around the celebration of this event are yearly observed. The principal feature of the celebration in the Episcopal Church is the removal of the Reserved Sacrament from the high altar to some especially prepared altar of repose, or sepulchre, which has been made into a bower of flowers and lights. This removal is made in a procession beautiful and solemn. Altar boys carrying long waxen torches, tiny girls in purest white and veils scattering flowers, and thurifers offering incense, the procession passes through a congregation reverently kneeling, while the age-old Pange Lingua is sung.

This occasion will be beautifully observed at the church of the Holy Cross, as is usual, tomorrow at a solemn High Mass at 9:30 a. m. The musical program will be as follows:

Introit—According to Thy Gracious Word.....Clark
Kyrie Eleison.....Missa Marialis
Sequence—By Christ Redeemed, by Christ Restored.....Ouseley
Credo.....Missa Marialis
Offertory—Love Divine, All Loves Excelling.....Stainer
Miss Helsmoortel and Mr. La Tour
Sanctus and Benedictus.....Missa Marialis
Agnus Dei.....Missa Marialis
Adoration—Glory Be to Jesus..Filitz
Gloria in Excelsis....Missa Marialis
For the Procession—Pange Lingua..Plain Chant
Stripping of the Altars: The Royal Banners Forward Go..Plain Chant

The preaching mission being held at Holy Cross by the Holy Cross Fathers is preached every night at 8 o'clock, concluding Good Friday night. The Good Friday Passion service will be held from noon until 3 p. m. The addresses on the Seven Last Words of Christ will be given by the Rev. Father Louis Lorey, O. H. C.

GIRL STOWAWAY IS FOUND ON BATTLESHIP.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Balboa Heights, Panama Canal Zone, April 16.—Wearing dungarees and a sailor cap and with all the sailor lingo at her tongue's end, 19 year old Madeline Blair, New York and Bridgeport, Conn., was taken as a stowaway on board the United States battleship Arizona.

She is in custody here and will be returned to New York by the Canal Zone quarantine authorities on the steamship Cristobal, sailing April 20.

After the Arizona had cleared for San Pedro Calif., Madeline told the authorities there were two other girls on board—a short brunette and a tall blonde—but a wireless to the battleship evoked no response.

Madeline is brown eyed, of medium height and pretty when she has regular girl's clothing on. When accidentally discovered by an officer she had her bobbed hair tucked under her cap. Also, she had $65 secreted in her clothing.

Madeline told the authorities she went on board the Arizona March 12 while the battleship was anchored in the Hudson river, opposite 125th street, New York city. She had obtained a sailor's uniform.

During musters she slipped from one deck to another to avoid detection. She never went to mess and never went ashore. She said she obtained her food from "hand outs" by sailors.

PLUTARCH.

Plutarch, April 16.—Herman Auchmoody has moved on a farm near Ohioville and William Minard of Highland has moved on the farm vacated by Mr. Auchmoody.

Henry McCormick, who has been confined to his home the past ten days with a severe attack of rheumatism, is slowly improving.

William Van Vliet has purchased a wood lot near Riverside and has a gang of men making hurdles.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Martin and two sons of Milton were recent visitors with friends here.

George Carroll, who has been employed for a short time at Selkirk, N. Y., has returned home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie McCormick and two daughters of New Paltz spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCormick.

While Horace Elliott, Jr., was coming from New Paltz last Tuesday, the wagon seat broke, throwing him on the concrete road and fracturing one of his ribs. Dr. Ross of Port Ewen reduced the fracture. At this writing he is getting along nicely.

Percival Cobb of New York visited his family here recently.

Divorced.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, April 16.—The Seine Tribunal today granted a divorce and the custody of her children to Mrs. James F. Curtis, a wealthy American woman. Mrs. Curtis, whose maiden name was Laura Beatrice Merriam, was married to Curtis in Washington November 6, 1912. She charged desertion.

If she wouldn't wash dishes at $50 a week, that's pride, if she does it for nothing, that's matrimony.

Henry Ford says the way to get world peace is to make everybody speak English. The last time a peace plan of that kind was launched. It was in 1914, when the Kaiser started out to make everybody speak German.

The original Fall was occasioned by an apple but there was no oil at that time.

Criticism is of two kinds, destructive and constructive. What kind are you peddling?

Poise is the quality that enables a man to smile placidly while his love letters are read in court.

Grandma isn't knitting now. It is so hard to knit while negotiating a cigarette.

No one is infallible. Even the weather man may be caught out in the rain without an unbrella.

Would you call the C. O. D. the fee-mail of the species?

The honeymoon is over when he begins to demand something more substantial than salads.

Get going, he said, as he wound up the alarm clock.

Uneasy lies the head that has a hat in the ring.

It seems as if the less a girl amounts to the more clever the men she has at her beck and call.

Success consists in operating a high powered automobile on a low powered salary without running into the poor house.

Cheer Up.

Why double other people's woes by looking grim and grey?
Let's whistle up a hope or two to chase the fears away!
Say—what's the use of envying the feasts we haven't got?
Let's count the currants in our buns —'twill cheer us up a lot.
We won't talk glibly, dismally of trouble, grief and loss—
We'll chat of blessing thankfully, and hide each pretty cross.
For don't we know - of course we do, life must have tracks of care?
But still it has some sunny miles—thank God they are there!

It always seems easier to forget the money we borrow than the money we lend.

Some of the farmers used to work like heck and pray for rain. Now they don't worry so much about the rain, for if it is dry weather they can play golf.

Two fleas were talking in the zoo.
"Join me in a game of golf," said one.
"Where?" said the other.
"Over on the lynx," said the first.

Here's to the Garden of Eden,
Which Adam was always a weedin'
'Till Eve by mistake,
Got bit by a snake,
Who on the ripe pippins was feedin'.

Then a longing it seemed to possess her.
For clothing sufficient to dress her;
And ever since then
It's up to us men
To pay for her dresses, God bless her.

BODIES OF AMERICANS SLAIN IN ALBANIA ON WAY HOME.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Naples, April 16.—The bodies of George B. De Long of New York, and Robert Lewis Coleman of San Francisco, who were killed by Albanian bandits, were brought from Durazzo today on board a United States destroyer.

They were transferred to the Italian liner Duilio, which sailed later for New York.

The two Americans were shot to death on a lonely mountain road between Tirana and Scutari on April 6.

THE WONDERING BUSINESS

"I don't suppose I've had a day off in years," said Chief Wonder.

"No?" said Billie Brownie.

"Don't you get tired?" he added after a moment.

"It's surprising to me that I don't," said Chief Wonder. "Perhaps my work amuses me so much that I cannot get tired of it.

"I really do enjoy it. It is such fun."

"You told me your name was Chief Wonder," Billie Brownie said. "But I don't believe I know what your work is."

"I am in business," said Chief Wonder.

"Business?" repeated Billie Brownie.

"Yes," said Chief Wonder, "I'm in the Wondering Business.

"There are three members of the firm and the name of the firm is 'Wonder, Wonder & Wonder, Experts in Wondering.'"

Billie Brownie still looked very much puzzled.

"You see," continued Chief Wonder, "I'm a member of the firm. And the other two members of the firm are always called Chief, too.

"We want to be quite equal in our duties."

"What are your duties?" Billie Brownie asked.

"Our duties are to furnish Wonders. We furnish them by wholesale or retail and which ever way they are wanted. We don't suggest that people order by the wholesale or retail from us. We let them do just as they think best.

"We do not give anything but the genuine Wonders. We don't give

"I'm in the Wondering Business."

anything but genuine articles of Wonder."

"And how do you do this?" Billie Brownie said.

"You've heard people say," Chief Wonder explained, "'I wonder if it is going to rain tomorrow.'

"Well, that wonder comes from the firm of Wonder, Wonder & Wonder.

"You've heard people say: 'I wonder if we'll go camping this summer.'

"That camping wonder also comes from the firm of Wonder, Wonder & Wonder.

"When people are sure of a thing they never come to us. But whenever they are not sure but are thinking about it—then we're the people to come to for we fix them up.

"You have heard people say: 'I wonder if the party will be fun.'

"We have nothing to do with the party but we furnish the wonder to the person who is going to the party but who isn't sure what it will be like, yet who is thinking about it.

"And as I've said we're busy all the time. People are always wondering about this or that or the other thing.

"We simply don't have a moment off. Our business hours are all the time.

"That is why there must be three members of the firm. There must always be at least two of us who are furnishing wonders—for each of the three of us takes turns in sleeping.

"We wouldn't do that except that it is part of our business.

"We work then, too, for we are furnishing dream wonders to people—people who wonder in their dreams or in their half-waking moments.

"But you see it is impossible for any of us to take a real rest. We're much too busy for that. I must rush off now. The other members of the firm will be needing me."

And then Billie Brownie saw Chief Wonder go off with two companions and they looked ever so much like question marks dressed up and on the hat of each was the word WONDER.

Difference in Names

The primary teacher had taken great pains to explain the distinction between surnames and Christian names. Defined as Stowaway

A public school teacher was explaining the meaning of the word "glutton."

"Now, Tommy," she asked, "what would you call a man who is constantly overeating?"

"Oh," said Tommy, whose father was a sea captain, "he's what you call a stowaway, I guess!"

SEASONABLE GOOD THINGS

Parsnips are at their best at this time of the year. Some like them cooked with other vegetables in a boiled dinner. They are well liked when cooked tender in boiling water, then skinned, cut into halves and fried brown in butter or some other sweet fat. Fritters are especially good. Cook them until tender, mash and season well, dip into a fritter batter by spoonfuls and fry in deep fat. Served with maple sirup or any kind of sweet sauce they make a most tasty entree.

Cream Puff Dessert.—For an emergency dessert, if you are near enough to a fresh supply of cream puff shells and vanilla ice cream, fill the puffs with vanilla ice cream and serve them with a hot chocolate sauce. A few nuts may be added if liked.

A sauce to serve over plain vanilla ice cream, making a frozen dish a little out of the ordinary is:

College Sauce.—Take three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, one-fourth of a cupful of water, one-fourth of a cupful of seeded raisins chopped; boil together five minutes, remove from the heat and add one tablespoonful of butter and a fourth of a teaspoonful of almond.

Apple Turnovers.—Make apple sauce according to taste, season with lemon rind or cinnamon, add a small lump of butter. Roll out pastry and cut into squares. Put a spoonful of the prepared sauce on each. Pinch the edges and place in a hot oven to bake. Serve with cream and sugar.

Bacon With Corn.—Cook a dozen slices of bacon until crisp, pouring off the fat during the cooking. Remove the bacon and keep where it is warm. Use four tablespoonfuls of the bacon fat to cook one-half of a green pepper and one small onion chopped fine, for five minutes. Add two cupfuls of corn and two eggs well-beaten, salt and pepper to taste and scramble all in hot fat. Heap on a platter and garnish with bacon.

No Matter What You Pay —
You Can't Buy More than De Forest!

De Forest D-10 Reflex Radiophone—a 4-tube long distance receiver using indoor loop, with a reputation for the clearest reception of broadcast in existence. Operates either on self-contained dry batteries, making it a portable set, or on the usual combination of storage and dry batteries. Sold on a direct comparison basis with any other set made, regardless of price. Price of set with loop $150.00.

NATURAL to suppose that a receiving set with a long name and a large number of tubes will bring in more stations and at a greater distance than a set with a shorter name and fewer tubes!

The way to find out the truth is to put a De Forest Reflex Radiophone in the same room with any set made—no matter how many tubes it uses—no matter how long its name—no matter how great its price—and buy the one that suits you best.

You will find that the De Forest D-10 Reflex will get all the stations any other set will get, probably more clearly, certainly more easily, and probably for about half the money. Its upkeep cost in tubes and batteries will be much lower. You can move it around from room to room or operate it in your car. When a better set is made De Forest will make it.

Remember that De Forest invented broadcasting. Remember that De Forest invented the vacuum tube which makes all present-day radio possible.

The Telephone Directory

—a Go-Getter of Business!

Merchants, manufacturers and business men with services to render and products to sell advertise in the Telephone Directory for the following logical reasons:

— it reaches the telephone users who grow in number daily.

— it gives your advertising the benefit of a large circulation and a large daily consultation.

— it is especially valuable in reaching newcomers in the community.

— its advertising space costs surprisingly little and gets results that more than justify the cost.

Call our business office and get the facts about this remarkable medium. A new issue closes soon.

Five Shot in Gary Battle

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Gary, Ind., April 16.—Three Gary police officers fell wounded in a running gun battle which traced its crackling staccato from Indiana Harbor to Gary and claimed five wounded early today before its final victim fell

The wounded officers:

William English, operator police telephone switchboard, shot through chest and leg, may die.

Motorcycle Policeman Otmaruf Pospichal shot through hand

Patrolman John Feigerle, shot through both legs and through hand.

The fleeing desperado, whose gun started the pitched battle, was believed dying in the hospital, shot through the head and four times through the arms He gave the name of Joseph Boosquius

In Indiana Harbor Boosquius shot and probably fatally wounded his pal, Francisco Jacinero

The motive for the shooting was believed to lie in a falling out of underworld companions

After shooting Jacinero Boosquius boarded an interurban for Gary Gary police had been notified Patrolman Feigerle, saw Boosquius He called on him to halt as Boosquius alighted from the interurban and the desperado opened fire Feigerle fell wounded returning the fugitive's fire as he fell

English came running from a nearby cafe and Boosquius fired one shot at him before turning to flight again English followed shooting

Pospichal joined him The two trailed Boosquius to the Italian section of the city cornered him on an outside staircase and shot it out with him

Ancient Light Built on Cotton Foundation

The employment of cotton as a foundation for buildings erected on sandy soil is a matter of common knowledge but the story of the first application of the material to this purpose is not generally known

Dealing with the ancient light as Leasowe, between the Mersey and the Dee, difficulties were encountered in the search for a solid base, and the wreck of a cotton ship offered an inspiration to the builders Some of the cotton which had been washed ashore was mixed with sand, and on this a massive stone tower was erected so firmly that it was found to withstand the fury of the mightiest tempests

Expected It

A pretty nurse had for patient a crabbed old millionaire who kept her running in and out on trivial errands He wanted the window opened and then he wanted it closed The pretty nurse was kept busy

"Never mind," said the house doctor trying to be jocular 'He may ask you to marry him"

"Yes, he may," said the nurse "He has about run out of other requests"

MANY FAMOUS MEN STUPID IN SCHOOL

Napoleon, Blucher and Darwin Slow Scholars.

Heidelberg.—German historians delving into the distant past have compiled a list of some of the "Peck's Bad Boys" and the "Tom Sawyers" of Europe who became world figures in achievements of various kinds and especially on the battlefield

Napoleon stands first, not that he was a particularly bad boy, but because of his campaigns and accomplishments which brought him everlasting fame Napoleon it is recorded, was always a constant source of annoyance to his teachers, and when he was a military academy student he was known as one of the most stupid young men in his or any of the other classes

One of Napoleon's opponents in war in later years, the duke of Wellington was known as a lazy youngster, and in his school days his thoughts always appeared to be preoccupied with matters other than books or study General Blucher was another who according to German custom, was known as a "last place" pupil, one of the class relegated to the rear seats in the schoolroom because of their unwillingness to learn

Charles Darwin never cared much for his schoolroom tasks 'but always appeared more interested in birds and animals and things in the great outdoors, and was known among the other youngsters as having a weakness for chasing every cat or dog in sight"

Isaac Newton was another 'last place" pupil Nelson, the British naval hero, while not exactly a bad boy in school, is listed as having no talents at all, and even below the average in his classes

Motorcyclist Carries Portable Radio Outfit

This picture, taken in Berlin, shows a motorcyclist carrying a fair passenger on the rear seat, with his portable radio receiving set. The aerial is carried on the back of the passenger, while both riders wear headsets, enabling them to listen in on all radio entertainment

Bombing of Cities to Feature Next Big War

Cleveland.—Belligerent nations will not try to kill enemy soldiers in the next war, Benedict Crowell, assistant secretary of war under former President Wilson, declared here in a recent address

"The League of Nations is failing," declared Mr Crowell "The nation or group of nations which enters the next war adequately equipped with tanks, gas and airplanes will win a quick and probably decisive victory In the next war governments will use sneezing or laughing gas, or anesthetics, to put men temporarily out of the fighting Death-dealing gases were used less and less as the last war progressed, and that shows the tendency A high ranking German officer said after the armistice that it was General Tank and not the genius of Marshal Foch that turned the tide against the Germans

"Airplanes will jump over armies and attack the directing brains behind. I believe that bombing cities is not justifiable, but will be carried out in the next war Supply depots and junction points will be destroyed and the morale of the civilians behind the lines impaired"

Has Wedding Reception, Though Bride Eloped

Uniontown, Pa.—Notwithstanding the fact that he had, figuratively speaking, been left at the church by his fiancee, who had eloped and married another man in Cumberland, Md., Joseph Richards, a citizen of Uniontown, held his wedding reception as per schedule, and his guests voted they had a great time

Richards was to have married Rose T. Simon He had presented her with a diamond engagement ring and a circlet of gold When he found she had eloped Richards refused to mourn. Wedding invitations had gone out to relatives and friends in all sections of southwestern Pennsylvania and he went on with his arrangements

Handsome and valuable presents by the score were brought by the guests for the bride and groom August Burnett of Charleroi, the best man, expressed disappointment. He had decked himself out in new raiment.

DEMOCRATS BACK AFTER HELPING LAUNCH SMITH

The delegates from Ulster county to the Democratic state convention returned from Albany, Tuesday evening, well satisfied with what little part they took in the launching of the nomination boom of Governor Al Smith for president. After D-Cady Herrick temporary chairman, who made the opening address, put the wheels of the Smith boom in motion with his keynote speech, and made an attack upon the Republican administration at Washington, Al Smith followed and his speech was in his usual style, he telling of what the Democrats had done for his pet measures in the legislature, and criticised the Republicans for not doing for him what he had requested. Mr. Herrick outlined a platform for the party, but nothing as to the wet and dry issue was mentioned

"SLABSIDES" SAVED FROM FOREST FIRE ON MONDAY.

A forest fire swept out of the north Monday night, and, leaving smoking, charred and blackened tree stumps in its wake, endangered "Slabsides," the home of the late John Burroughs, naturalist, filled with relics. Albert Wilklow, fire warden, leading the Highland Fire Department and the boys from the Raymond Riordon School, quickly rushed to the scene and starting a back fire soon had the fire under control at the north end, the fire having then advanced toward "Slabsides" Danger was past about 11 o'clock

Cocoanut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this cannot possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. Two or three teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy, wavy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and a few ounces will last everyone in the family for months.

Tennis Rapidly Gaining Followers in Australia

Tennis is rapidly supplanting cricket as the most popular outdoor sport in Australia, according to the Sydney Referee, the well-known sporting periodical. It points out that during Christmas week there were tournaments at South Yarra, Camperdown, Ballarat, Sale, Kalamatite and Frankston, in which more than 1,500 competitors took part. There is a tremendous rush of tournaments all over Australia and the state championships are attracting more entries than ever before.

"In Victoria" says the Referee, "the cricketing clubs in the country towns are finding their leading players prefer tennis to cricket and they cannot get teams together without difficulty. The cricketers seem to prefer a practice game of lawn tennis to their own love. Times are surely changing."

Black Jack Burdock's Hands Tell His Story

Efforts were made recently to obtain the consent of "Black Jack" Burdock, famous ballplayer of 40 years and more ago, to grant an interview concerning himself and his exploits in a now dim period in the national game, but he refused.

"I never was one to talk about myself," said the veteran, whose hair and mustache—once so black that they earned for him his sobriquet—are shot through with gray. Here he held out his hands, gnarled and knotted by countless hard-hit balls.

"These are my story," he said. "There is nothing I could add to them."

Such popularity must be deserved

BIG HITS don't just happen. Popularity doesn't come ready-made.

In pictures, plays or products, success must be built on something REAL.

Thus Chesterfield's swift rise to popularity was no accident. Smokers were ready for a better cigarette and in Chesterfield they found it.

Taste convinced them. That's why men are turning by thousands to Chesterfield.

Form Woodstock Athletic Ass'n

Leading Residents Also Incorporate Holding Company and Invite Others to Join Association and Buy Stock.

A long felt want is being supplied in Woodstock; an athletic association.

In the past this was often talked of, and at times spasmodic attempts have been made along this line by forming ball teams and tennis clubs etc, but for one reason or another they did not live long. This winter some of the boys formed a basket ball team, and became quite proficient, defeating a Kingston team among others.

The boys used the Bracher studio to play in, but they had to give the building up as it was leased to other parties. Then a few enthusiasts thought it might be possible to organize an athletic society and get a building of their own.

So the Woodstock Athletic Association was born, with William S. Elwyn as president, Rivvie Smith, vice president, Frank Schoonmaker secretary, Reginald Lapo, treasurer, and a board of ten directors as follows: Hervey White, Ralph R. Whitehead, Alice Wardwell, Frank Happy, Dr. Mortimer, B. Downer, George Neher, Marion Eames, George Bellows, John Carlson, Frank Chase and Judson Smith. They are all well known people in Woodstock and many of them have a wide reputation in the art world.

After deciding what was needed it was apparent that a large sum of money would be necessary to carry the plan to fruition. A tract of land well situated and large enough to have a ball field, and tennis court, and space to park several hundred cars, a building, large enough to have a basket ball court, a large room for recreation and pool tables, a bowling alley, shower baths, dressing rooms etc.

To do this it was deemed best to form an independent company to finance the project So the Athletic Holding Co. Inc., was formed with the same board of directors as the Athletic Association together with Griffin Herrick, George H. Elwyn and Clara M. Park.

The Athletic Holding Association is incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, and capitalized for thirty thousand dollars. Shares are $10 par value, a dividend of 4 per cent being expected.

It is planned for the Holding Company to rent to the Athletic Association the land and building. The dues of the members to be $6 per annum, resulting, it is planned, in a dividend of 4 per cent and the admission to games to pay the overhead charges. Several properties are being considered by the board of directors.

It is hoped the public of Woodstock will support the project by joining the Athletic Association, and buying what stock in the Holding Company they can.

NURSERY DEARER THAN PARLIAMENT.

MRS. HILTON PHILLIPSON, M.P.

Mrs. Hilton Phillipson, one of Great Britain's eight women members of Parliament, called the "chorus girl M. P." has resolved to resign in order to devote her time to the care of her three children, the eldest of whom is six. Captain Phillipson, her husband, who probably will succeed her as a Conservative from Berwick, declared his wife regards motherhood as the most important thing in her life. Before her marriage Mrs. Phillipson was Mabel Russell, musical comedy star and member of the chorus.

Polish War Office to Bar Finery on Women

Warsaw.—An edict against the wearing of silk stockings and other finery by women employees of the war department has just been issued by General Sikorski, minister of war.

Somehow the department gained the reputation of being a good marriage mart, most of the stenographers leaving to be married after a year's service.

General Sikorski heard of it, reviewed the staff and, finding the women dressed in elaborate clothes, issued an order that they wear dark, high-collared dresses, high shoes and cotton or wool stockings.

Metric System

The metric system of measurement was originated in 1786 by James Watt, the noted English inventor. One of the first nations to adopt this system was France during the French revolution. Lavoisier, the great French chemist, was the principal influence for its adoption. Today every civilized nation in the world, except the United States and Great Britain has adopted the metric system. These two English-speaking nations wrestle with a jumble of other systems, hence a strong demand that the world centralize on one popular system, the metric.

Keeping Air Moist

In homes heated by hot air furnaces, with registers in the floor, it is a good plan to keep cans of water hung in the register. Any handy person can make holes in a tin can in which to fasten a wire bale, and this can be hung on a narrow strip of wood laid across the furnace pipe, just below the floor level. A two-quart can will require filling twice a week. This will not only prevent the furniture from drying out, but is an aid to the health of the family, as it keeps the air moist.

PLANS TO SALVAGE SUNKEN WARSHIPS

England Lets Contract to Raise German Fleet.

London.—The German fleet is to be raised. The admiralty has entered into a contract for its salvage with a London firm.

Since the memorable 21st of June, 1919, with one or two exceptions, the ships have lain as they sank, a menace to shipping and a worry to a harassed lighthouse service in maintaining numerous buoys and beacons. For though the name Scapa Flow only attained a world-wide significance during the war, its waters have been well known and much frequented by mariners in all ages.

Less than an hour after the first ship had sunk five years ago, rumors were current that there were strange happenings in the Flow, writes a correspondent. As the naval authorities at that time were in possession of all the telephone systems in the country, I decided to test the inviolability of naval secrecy. So to naval headquarters in Kirkwall I went.

"I know," I said to the officer in charge, "that you can't tell me anything, but is it worth my while to take a run eight miles on the road?"

"Well worth your while."

Thus it was that I witnessed one of the most dramatic incidents of the war.

Witnessed Sinking of Fleet.

I saw battleships, battle cruisers and cruisers sink almost imperceptibly until their decks reached the level of the sea, then wallow and flounder on their sides, and simply disappear. One moment a dull gray side, like some huge whale. The next, nothing to mark the spot but a patch of water boiling like a cauldron.

I witnessed the frantic efforts to beach the great Hindenburg. But our naval men were too late. She settled down in the mud close to the little island of Cava, and there she still lies, huge masts and funnels rearing themselves from the water into space. The cruiser Bremen was beached near the air station at Swanbister, but she had lost all stability. With her bow hard on the ground she lurched drunkenly for a minute or two, then broke her back and fell on her side.

The German liners sank at their moorings. At low tide parts of their hulls are exposed, danger spots on which numerous fishing trawlers have stranded and held fast until released by the rising tide. Further to the south the destroyers lie, opposite the now deserted naval harbor works at Lyness, near the island of Hoy. Their masts jut from the water at regular intervals, like some broken-down fence.

The navy's salvage efforts were not entirely fruitless. Some ships, both great and small, were saved and were taken south for disposal. The salvage operations now commenced are not on any large scale. These ships were purchased over a year ago by a small company in Strom, raised and brought into harbor for breaking up.

Speculation Is Profitable.

It is believed that the speculation has proved very remunerative. Strange uses have been found for portions of these engines of war. Boiler tubes have been polished and sold literally by the thousands for such household purposes as casement curtain rods.

Last year a company purchased some of the destroyers. Operations went on for some months last summer and it was understood that in the event of these proving successful the company had an option on the remainder of the fleet. A certain amount of material was brought ashore, but no ship was raised.

When the salvage ship proceeded to its home port last fall it was stated that operations would be re-commenced in the spring, but it is not known how this company is affected by the contract now entered into between the admiralty and the London firm.

It is evident that the operations shortly to commence are to be on a really big scale. We in Orkney have little knowledge of the methods of salvors, but to the unskilled the operation of raising the smaller ships, and even the Hindenburg squatting on the mud, does not seem by any means insuperable. The hulls are whole.

The scuttling was affected by opening the sea cocks. If these can be closed and the hatchways sealed, then does not the problem simply resolve itself into one of pumping till we see the German fleet resurrected? In the past year or so the East Coast Salvage company has carried out two similar operations in the Orkneys.

CHIEF FIGURES IN NEWS OF THE DAY.

Below: MASANO HANIHARA & HENRY CABOT LODGE

The letter of Masano Hanihara, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, to Secretary of State Hughes, warning him that "grave consequences" would follow Congressional action excluding Japanese from the United States, so aroused Senator Henry Cabot Lodge that he called the envoy's action "improper." Hanihara's recall is expected in Washington. U. S. Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, formally reported the Soldier Bonus bill to the Upper House, ahead of the tax reduction measure. Led by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, wife of the former Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Democratic women in New York State revolted from the domination of Tammany Hall and demanded, in the State convention in Albany, the right to name their own delegates-at-large to the National Convention.

Manjak Taken From Island of Trinidad

Manjak is a substance which is obtained in the Island of Trinidad, and in but few other places on the earth. It is a mineral substance and has a number of uses which are rather interesting. In the first place, a lubricant is manufactured from it. Thread, grease for pipes and for use in rotary drilling, making absolutely tight connections against grit, water and mud under high pressure, is made from it, as well as a lubricant for gear cases, sprocket wheels and roller bearings. If the manjak is too heavy, it can be cut with kerosene. A hard flux is also made from it. It protects surface and underground piping or casing against corrosion and hydrolysis. It can be used as a roofing material and for caulking seams. It saves condensation on steam lines and boilers. It prevents pitting.

To protect pipes or casing, the flux is liquefied by heating and, as it cools off, an equal measure of kerosene or crude oil is added. The flux is applied by brushing, dipping or spraying. A jet black paint is also made from the manjak gum. This paint dries quickly, giving a tough, unbreakable covering to protect hot and cold surfaces, smokestacks, undersides of motorcars, etc. It may be used as an anticorrosive paint for ship bottoms. This paint is prepared ready for use. The paint is cut with a little gasoline or white spirits. The paint can be applied easily and does not drag on the brush.—Scientific American.

PROCLAMATION.

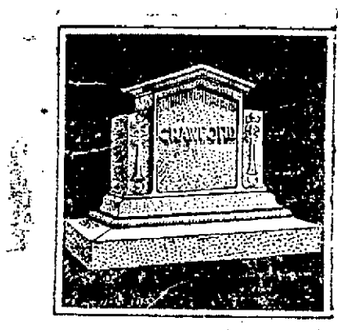

The People of the State of New York, by the grace of God free and independent: To the Sheriff of the County of Ulster, Greeting:—We command you that you summon to be and appear at a term of the Supreme Court of the State of New York, to be held by a Justice of the Supreme Court, at the Court House, in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster, on the first Monday of May, 1924, the several persons who shall have been drawn to serve as Grand and Petit Jurors at the said court. And we further command you to bring before the said court all prisoners then being in the jail of the said County of Ulster, together with all the processes and proceedings any way concerning them in your hands. And we further command you to make proclamation in the manner prescribed by law, notifying all persons bound to appear at the said court, by recognizance or otherwise, to appear thereat, and requiring all Justices of the Peace, Coroners and other officers who have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any person at the said court, or who have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, to return such recognizances, inquisitions and examinations, to the said court on the opening thereof on the first day of its sitting, and have then and there this precept.

Witness, Hon. Joseph Rosch, one of the Justices of our Supreme Court, at the Court House, in Kingston, in said County, the 10th day of April, 1924.

FREDERICK G. TRAVER,
District Attorney.

In pursuance to the above precept, I hereby make proclamation that a term of the Supreme Court of the State of New York and Jail Delivery, will be held at the Court House in Kingston, in and for the County of Ulster, on the first Monday of May next, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon of that day; and all persons who will prosecute against persons confined in the jail of said County are required to be then and there present, to proceed as may be just; and all persons bound to appear at the said court, by recognizance or otherwise, are required to appear thereat; and all Justices of the Peace, Coroners or other officers who may have taken any recognizance for the appearance of any persons at the said court, or who may have taken any inquisition, or the examination of any prisoner or witness, are required to return such recognizance, inquisition and examination, to the said court, at the opening thereof, and on the first day of the sitting thereof, and to be then and there present with their rolls and records, indictments and remembrances, to do those things which to their offices pertain.—Dated City of Kingston, April 10th, 1924.

HERMAN S. WELLS,
Sheriff of Ulster County.

Smith Receives Congratulations

Will Keep on Working Long Hours, However, Until 700 Bills Are Cleared Up, Then Go to French Lick.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., April 16.—Governor Smith's hat today is in the Democratic presidential nomination ring but he is determined it shall not interfere with his job as governor of New York State.

For the next three weeks the governor will be working anywhere from ten to twelve hours a day and possibly more cleaning up the 700 odd bills dumped into the executive chamber during the last few days of the Legislature.

After he has disposed of these measures he is going to take a rest, probably for about two weeks at French Lick Springs. What may happen at French Lick when the governor is there is a matter of conjecture but advisors of the governor said today they would not be surprised if the wires were hot" with political stories.

Friends of the governor were unanimous today in declaring they had never heard him make a better speech than that before the Democratic state convention late yesterday afternoon when he promised to accept the nomination if offered him. The cheering of the delegates was suddenly hushed when the governor ended his speech with this solemn vow:

"If my nomination is brought about and it results in a triumph of the party, you can say to every delegate that you meet at the convention in New York city that I promised you before God Almighty himself that neither they nor you will ever have any cause to regret any confidence they or you fit to impose in me."

The governor made it very plain however, that he did not intend to do one thing to bring about his nomination.

"I haven't the time, and I haven't the means so I am going to keep on being governor up to the day the convention opens," he said.

Just before he concluded his speech the governor repeated a favorite expression that:

"A man who would use one office to rise to another is not fit for either."

Scores and scores of telegrams and messages were received at the executive mansion and the executive chamber today wishing the governor the best of good luck.

Legion Minstrel At High School

The high school auditorium no doubt will be filled on the evenings of April 28 and 29, when the American Legion Minstrels will give performances under the direction of Harry Maisenhelder, who has proven his skill in getting together good talent in previous minstrel entertainments given under the American Legion auspices. Besides the usual first part circle with interlocutor and end men there will be an olio of comedy acts, sketches, etc. The songs will be the latest hits of the season with accompaniment by an orchestra of selected musicians selected by Director Maisenhelder personally. The rehearsals have been several and will continue until the show nights. Among the local stars who will appear in the ensemble and in the olio are William Newkirk, John Palisi, Tommy Murray, Peter Jordan, John Fisher, Matt Deegan, Jiggs Manning, Frank Bossi and Andrew Jansen, each of whom have appeared in previous entertainments and made good.

TODAY WE CELEBRATE

MAXIMILIAN.

The first definite step leading to the execution of the ill-fated Maximilian—"Emperor of Mexico"—was taken 62 years ago today when the French declared war against Juarez the president of Mexico.

The English and Spanish Allies were withdrawn from the expedition and France was left to prosecute it alone. The invaders were for a time successful and by 1864 had possession of most of Mexico.

This continued until 1867, when the United States, again a united country, assumed a hostile attitude toward the disturbers of American peace. France then abandoned the effort—and Maximilian was left to face the issue—the stone wall and a Mexican firing squad.

Origin of Uncle Sam

The nickname Uncle Sam was first used in Troy, N. Y., in 1812.

I Still Look 20

after 32 years as a star

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Some of you remember me as a fa- ous stage beauty over 30 years ago. haps in "The Girl I Left Behind " in "La Belle Helene," in ang," or "Elorodora."

Many of you see me now, playing as girls' parts, still looking like a in her 'teens.

Thousands of women have asked the secrets of this perennial th. I have supplied them to by, and they, like I, have kept ir girlish charms.

Now for all women

Now I am persuaded that I owe information to all womankind. have obtained by world-wide rch, the best beauty helps in ex- ence. I know they could bring to ilions what they brought to me. So I have arranged to supply these s to all who want them—as a r to my sex. I have had them pared with the utmost skill, thout regard to cost. And they sold at modest prices with small nd to profit.

Thus I hope to bring to girls and mens everywhere the benefits I And no woman could ask for re.

My beautiful mother

My mother died a girlish beauty at age of 57. From my earliest s she taught me her secrets. n together we traveled the beau- ring world in search of better thods.

We consulted able scientists, beau- specialists and famous beauties rywhere. The search cost us a une. But it brought to me and , and friends of mine, decades dded youth.

ow those helps are yours if you re—the best that science knows. I hope that my results will lead to employ them.

White Youth Clay

ove my debutante complexion ght to a superclay. Not like the e and muddy clays so many use t, but a clean, refined clay which white. It is based on 20 years scientific study by the ablest of experts.

ne who applies it feels the im- ties fairly drawn from the skin. that clogs the skin comes out— causes of blackheads and blem- s. The blood is brought to the ace. Large pores, lines and kles yield.

ash it off when it dries, then be- a new complexion, soft and clear and firm. The results amaze and delight you. Many en in those 30 minutes seem to ten years.

ay is a beauty essential. No an looks her best without it. keeps her youthful bloom. en who use clay today stand out y crowd.

n't use crude and muddy clays, hey will disappoint. Try this me creation—the last word in clays. It will be a revelation. na Wallace Hopper's White h Clay comes in tubes, at 50c $1.

Facial Youth

is is a liquid cleansing cream I learned about in France. It contains no animal, no vegetable oil, so it cannot assimilate with the skin. It simply cleans to the depths, then departs. All the grime, all that clogs the skin goes with it. I use it night and morning, and whenever else my face needs cleaning.

Compare it with any cleansing cream or any cleansing method. You will be surprised at the extra dirt my Facial Youth removes. And a clean skin is essential to beauty.

The greatest beauty experts in the world now advise this formula for cleansing. But they charge a very high price. Edna Wallace Hopper's Facial Youth sells for 75c a bottle.

Youth Cream

This is my cold cream which I apply at night. Also in daytimes as a powder base. Also after every application of my Youth Clay or Facial Youth.

Youth Cream contains both lemon and strawberry. It is the only cream, I believe, which combines these fruit effects.

It softens, whitens, feeds and firms the skin. After its use I awake in the morning blooming like a girl in her 'teens.

In all my many years of searching, I have never found a cold cream to compare with this. Nor has any woman whom I know. Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream costs 60c per jar.

It comes in two types—the Cold Cream type and the Vanishing type. Be sure to get the type you want. Both have the same essentials constituents. Neither grows hair on the face.

Hair Youth

My hair is my greatest glory. It is thick, silky, lustrous and grows finer every year. Before I bobbed it, it fell below my knees.

I have never had falling hair or dandruff, and never a touch of gray. Nor has any friend who uses my formula. Nor had mother, who found this formula in France. She died at 57 with hair like mine today.

This is due to my Hair Youth. I apply it daily with an eye-dropper—just enough to dampen the scalp. This method does not muss the hair.

Hair Youth daily combats the hardened oil and dandruff which stifle the hair's growth. It stimulates and fertilizes the hair roots, from which come hair breath and hair color.

Look at my luxuriant hair. Then use what I used to get it. Edna Wallace Hopper's Hair Youth costs 50c and $1, with eye dropper.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Beauty Helps are now sold everywhere. But I will gladly send you a test of one, and with it my Beauty Book. Check in this coupon the one you want and send it in today.

FILM AND RECORD MUSEUM PLANNED

London Institution Where Future Can View Us.

The future will both see and hear us if the rest of the world adopts plans which are now being made to establish a film and phonograph record museum in London.

Whether the generations to come are to be congratulated or commiserated for having their ancestors thrust upon them instead of conveniently escaping them, as other generations have always done, is a question to be touched on with discreet and appropriate lightness.

The new museum, if it is formed, will be built around the nucleus of film already in possession of the Imperial War museum. There are hundreds of thousands of feet of moving picture film in this collection, reporting historic military and naval engagements of the war, among which are the Battle of the Somme and the blocking of Zeebrugge harbor.

Hitherto preservation of films has been difficult because the negatives from which they are made eventually contract, but a new celluloid material, which is unshrinkable and unburnable, promises to solve this difficulty.

One film also in existence chronicles events as far back as 1899, showing Queen Victoria's visit to Dublin in that year and her funeral in 1900 with the former kaiser as one of the mourners.

To the purely visual collection of the War museum may be added the strictly vocal collection of the British museum. This includes phonograph records of the voices of King George and Queen Mary, Patti, Melba, Caruso, Chaliapin. Among the statesmen whose voices have been taken are Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, Winston Churchill, Admiral Peary, Sir Ernest Shackleton and various others.—Living Age.

Causes Sap to Rise

The cause of the ascent of sap has long been a mooted question, but Sir J. C. Bose, a noted Hindu plant biologist, has recently announced that as the result of a long study of the problem he believes that it is due to a pumping action, akin to that exerted by the heart of an animal. Whereas the pumping in an animal is done by a single large organ, in plants it is carried on by minute cells, each of which expands and contracts with a throbbing action, continually drawing up water from below and expelling it upward to the next cell. The active cells are mostly in the cortex or inner bark, next to the woody tissue. The biologist explains the experiment which led to his conclusion, as follows: "A chrysanthemum plant had all its leaves removed and the stem coated with an impermeable varnish, thus causing a complete stoppage of transpiration. The root pressure was eliminated by cutting off the root. The cut end of the stem was next placed in water, and the ascent took place at the rate of 60 feet per hour, and this in the complete absence of transpiration and root pressure. The ascent must, therefore, be due to some independent cellular activity present in the interior of the plant." Sir J. C. Bose is the inventor of an electric probe, as he calls it, which reveals the minute processes of cell activity.

Lava Tides of a Volcano

The investigating scientist has made the discovery that the lake of molten lava in the crater of the volcano Kilauea in Hawaii has ebb and flow tides.

There are two daily fluctuations that change the level from two to seven feet, a mid-day variation of about five feet and a monthly shifting of the time for the maximum and minimum levels, the noticeable fact being reported that one of the sharp fluctuations occurs just about sunrise, while there is another variation that takes place with marked regularity shortly after midnight.

There is no explanation for the lava tides, the power that produces them being wholly unknown.—Ohio State Journal.

He Must Have Been

At a public school examination in free-hand drawing a pupil appeared without a pencil. He was promptly taken to task by the teacher. "What would you think of a soldier without a gun?" she demanded.

"Why," stammered the boy, who happened to be a member of this school's training corps, "Why, ma'am, I should think he was an officer."

Something Wrong

Proud Father—Well, Tommy, what do you think of your new bouncing brother?

Tommy—Something's the matter with him, paw. I dropped him as hard as I could on the floor, but he wouldn't bounce.

Good Training

The Boss—Yes, you've been with us a year at a very small salary but you must have gained a valuable knowledge of the business in that time.

The Clerk—Sure I have. I've learned how to hire good help and pay for it in experience.

From Better to Worse

Prisoner—So they aren't going to hang me after all?

Peon—No, gringo, someone chopped down the only tree in the country, so now we'll have to shoot you.—College Wit.

PLAGIARISM OF FAMOUS AUTHORS

Writer Says Shakespeare Stole Whole Plots.

Plagiarism is as old as the human race. In mechanics all inventions are plagiarism, for if inventors had not borrowed ideas from their predecessors progress would come to a standstill. Voltaire is quoted as saying: "Of all forms of theft plagiarism is the least dangerous, and often proves beneficial." Hildreth Harper, in an article entitled "A Pageant of Plagiarists," in a recent issue of Book Notes, declares:

"Shakespeare stole whole plots, incidents and ideas from his predecessors; while Moliere derived not only his plots but entire scenes from Italian comedies. Pope only acknowledged: 'I freely confess that I have served myself all I could by reading.'

"Disraeli has been called the 'perpetual plagiarist.' His famous funeral oration over Wellington was said to be from an article by Thiers on Marshal Saint-Cyr. A similar example of plagiarism was once performed by the Hon. John J. Ingalls. He delivered an eloquent eulogy on a certain J. N. Barnes. It was given great praise as an admirable piece of rhetoric, but it was discovered that the eulogy had been appropriated from a sermon.

"Another skilled adapter was Charles Reade. He was known to have appropriated Swift's 'Polite Conversation,' with a work of his own entitled 'The Wandering Heir.' De Quincey first pointed out that Coleridge's hymn is a paraphrase of an almost unknown poem by a German authoress, Frederica Brunn, called 'Chamonix at Sunrise.'

"Owen Meredith (Lord Lytton) was one of the most daring plagiarists, it is said, that ever lived. 'Lucille' was a bare-faced bit borrowed from de Mussey and Heine. It is even possible that he never wrote an original line in his life. Sterne, it is pointed out, took the best passages of his 'Tristam Shandy' from older authors, then denounced plagiarism in the words of Burton.

"Benjamin Franklin laid claim to translations of 'De Senectute' done by Logan, and copied his counsels against intemperance out of the works of Jeremy Taylor. Longfellow translated an Anglo-Saxon metrical fragment, and his version agrees almost verbally with Rev. J. J. Conybeare's. Thomas Hardy appropriated an entire chapter from 'Georgia Scenes,' by an almost forgotten American humorist, made a few changes and inlaid it in his 'Trumpet-Major.'"—New York Times.

A Real Sleuth

There is a ten-year-old boy whose mother thinks he is destined to become a noted detective. One day he was begging for permission to try his hand at mending a broken umbrella over which his father was working, and at last was sent out of the room on an errand.

When he returned his father and mother were talking, and the umbrella had vanished.

"I know where you have put it," he said, after a glance around the room. "You've put it in that closet, and—"

"Well, where else should I put it?" demanded the father, impatiently; but the mother waited for her boy to finish.

"I know it's there," he said, triumphantly, "because whenever you open the closet door that photograph on the end of the bookshelf falls down, and it's down now! And I know 'twas father put it in, for mother would have stood the picture up again."

Art Endures

In the department of esthetics, wherein critics mainly disport themselves, it is almost impossible to think of a so-called truth that shows any sign of being permanently true. . . . But the work of art, as opposed to the theory behind it, has a longer life, particularly if that theory be obscure and questionable, and so cannot be determined accurately. Hamlet, the Mona Lisa, Faust, Dixie, Parsifal, Mother Goose, Annabel Lee, Huckleberry Finn—these things, so baffling to pedagogy, so contumacious to the categories, so mysterious in purpose and utility—these things live. And why? Because there is in them the flavor of salient, novel and attractive personality . . . because they pulse and breathe and speak, because they are genuine works of art.—H. L. Mencken, in "Prejudices, Third Series."

Sounded the Same

At a concert in Glasgow a famous soprano was singing a song in Italian. An old man in the front row of the pit suddenly burst into tears and would not be comforted.

On being asked why he had broken down he said: "She reminds me so of my daughter."

"But surely," some one suggested, "your daughter couldn't sing like that?"

"No, but it was the same in a way," the old man said. "You couldn't understand what she was singing about, either."

Needed the Space

While posing in evening clothes for a new photograph a movie hero was very insistent about having the photograph show plenty of shirt front. And, as he was good for about a thousand dollars' worth of work every year, the photographer was anxious to oblige. But a photographer has his bump of curiosity the same as others.

"Why so much shirt front?" asked this one.

"To write autographs on," explained the star.

Newsprint Paper

Newsprint paper is mostly made of wood mechanically ground into a pulp. But the hardwoods are unsuitable because too much power is required to grind them. Only the long-fibered, light-colored, nonresinous balsams and spruces are important commercial sources of ground wood. Pulp made by this process cannot be used for print paper by itself. It needs to be strengthened by the addition of stronger fibered pulp, which is made by cooking chips of wood with a chemical under steam pressure in a specially designed cooker. In this process a large part of the wood known as lignin is removed, leaving fibers consisting of almost pure cellulose.

Elysium

The name Elysium is given in classical mythology to the region where the souls of the good dwell after death. The location of Elysium varied with the fancy of the writer. Homer placed it on the west of the earth, near the ocean, and described it as a happy land, fanned by the delightful breezes of Zephyrus. According to Hesiod and Pindar, Elysium was in the Islands of the Blessed, in the western ocean (whence arose the notion of the fabulous island of Atlantis), while Vergil located it in the underworld, with an entrance near Lake Avernus, in Campania.

Or Hooks and Eyes

A little South Carolina girl writes this one to the Columbia Record: "A man went to the hospital to have an operation, after the operation was over the doctor missed his gloves, then cut the man open and got the gloves out after they had sewed him up the doctor missed his towel and they had to cut him open again, when they sewed him up the doctor missed his scissors, the doctor said: 'look here man I have to cut you open again and get my scissors.' The man said: 'Next time you cut me open just put buttons and button holes on me so you can go in and out when you please.'"

To Irrigate Arid Land

The Ceylon government has adopted an irrigation scheme which it is claimed will convert 10,000 acres of arid sands into valuable sugar cane land.

IN BEING A COUNTRY JOURNALIST

The University of Missouri recently opened journalism as a career for women. Active newspaper women know what they knew. Of city work—necessity—an employee of a big paper spoke. Country journalism held down of the ladder with an owner and publisher, Mrs. Anna Ewing—better known as Mrs. W. E.—of the Fulton (Mo.) Ledger. She is no grind, keeps her head buried in her inky work. She has "interesting side-lines, occupations, as housekeeper and mother." She enjoys the distinction, with others, of being state chairman of the Democratic women of Missouri. As for her job, here's part of her address to the university:

"In speaking of country journalism, country country, where people live when the lark is a-wing; where we eat our dinners, boiled dinners early, in the middle of the day; where the prices of poultry, butter, corn, hogs and hides are vital topics; where the highest minded, warm hearted, most sympathetic, helpful, most lovable people most congregate.

"And the woman's field in this journalism? It is as some one aptly said of her sphere, it has no limit. In this woman's field there is no such phrase as 'I don't know.' You can't say that; it isn't done.

"I am not touching on the financial question; my method is stamped on most of our coins, and my success is always in the forefront of my mind when I sing the doxology. Nor am I going to say much on the subject of news. When your field is a small country community where everybody knows everybody else, often to the third and fourth generations—all their uprisings and downsittings, as it were—you get to feel as if it were all a part of yourself. Every time you write an item you think who will enjoy it. I know a world-renowned journalist said: 'What God has allowed to happen, I am not ashamed to publish.' Neither am I—if it happened in New Hampshire or California. But when fathers have talked heart-to-heart to you about their hopes, their fears, their disappointments for their children; when women have confided in you; when lovers have come to you for advice and comfort; when people have laid their hands on your shoulders and said 'Will you pray for me?' Oh I tell you news has a new meaning. So has life!

"To me the thing that peculiarly differentiates the woman's field is the matter of service. Why, truly, there is not a life or death or birth, or anything a penny's weight of worth, but what a newspaper woman is in it. To be a newspaper woman takes a vast amount of courage, love, tact, bluff, a deep abiding sense of humor, and an unshakable faith in prayer."

Thaw Sane, Says Wilson

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Philadelphia, April 16.—"Harry K. Thaw is a sane man; his liberation will not menace society. The stories about 'Tweedlesdums' and 'Tootsie' are the flimsiest sort of evidence. His fondness for pet rabbits is no indication of insanity."

This was the testimony today of another expert alienist, Dr. George Wilson, instructor at the University of Pennsylvania at the Thaw sanity hearing.

"I believe Thaw to be a sane man," Dr. Wilson declared, substantiating the opinion expressed by Dr. Charles K. Mills.

Roy Phillips, a court stenographer, who once took Thaw's deposition in a civil action, also testified. He said he had taken 29,000 words of testimony from Thaw and that Thaw appeared perfectly normal.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, April 16.—The young people of the Christian Endeavor Society will present two rollicking comedies in the Pythian Hall Friday evening, April 25th, at 8 o'clock. You'll never want to miss "O'Keefe's Circuit," a play by Carolyn Gilpatrick and "The Marriage Failure," a pantomime with a surprise ending. If you have never smiled before you must surely see those comedies and enjoy the sensation of a hearty laugh.

A private sale of household furniture, parlor stove, etc., at the home of Mrs. Martin Van Keuren on Bayard street.

The friends of Miss Mary F. Bishop will be pleased to know she was successfully operated on at the Kingston City Hospital Tuesday afternoon by Doctors Chandler and Ross.

Esopus Council, No. 42, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, will meet this evening at 8 o'clock at their council room at Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Van Keuren are moving into their new home on Salem street.

Eunice Short is ill of mumps at her home on Main street.

The passion week services which are being held in the Reformed Church are well attended. There was a large attendance last night. The challenging of the Saviour's authority, the controversies between the Christ and teachers of His time, His scathing discourse against them and their growing hatred and plotting for His death, His departure from the temple after His rejection by the nation were forcefully brought home by the pastor. Tonight, the day of seclusion and rest will be considered. The hour is 7:30. These services are free to all.

EASTER MUSICAL SERVICE AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

There will be a special 5 o'clock vesper service on Easter Sunday afternoon in place of the evening service at the Rondout Presbyterian Church, when an augmented choir, under the direction of Miss Virginia Los Kamp, will render the beautiful Easter cantata, "From Death to Life," by J. C. Bartlett. It impressively tells the story of the crucifixion and then the wondrous story of the joyous Easter morn in beautifully arranged solo, duet and chorus numbers.

The choir will be assisted by the following well known singers: Mrs. Carolyn Sager Rich, Earle Clum, of the high school faculty, Chauncey Mains, William Lyon, Edgar Palen, Henry W. Darrow and Gustave Nelson.

COMBINING LAY'S TWO STORES ON HASBROUCK AVE.

The work of combining the two stores of Jacob A. Lay at 121 and 123 Hasbrouck avenue, meat market and confectionery and ice cream, is about completed, and painters and electricians are busy putting on the finishing touches. The newly enlarged store has a large frontage with two big plate glass display windows and the improvement is a noteworthy one. Mr. Lay always has been a go-ahead business man and being progressive his business in both of his lines has grown yearly.

Easter At Bethany Chapel.

There will be an Easter service held at Bethany Chapel on Washington avenue, Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Recitations and carols will be given by the school. The pupils are requested to bring their mite boxes with Easter offering. The friends of the school are invited.

Daylight Saving Starts April 27

Kingston is again to have daylight saving time commencing Sunday, April 27, and ending Sunday, September 28. The new time goes into effect automatically the last Sunday of this month under an ordinance adopted during the Canfield administration when daylight saving first went into effect during the World War. Until this ordinance is repealed Kingston will continue to have daylight saving time each summer.

On Monday the common council of Newburgh adopted a resolution adopting daylight saving time in that city. It is expected that every city and large hamlet in the Hudson river valley will operate under the new time this summer.

Society Notes

Miscellaneous Shower.

Tuesday evening Mrs. J. W. Crosby tendered a miscellaneous shower to her sister, Miss Alice G. Matthews, which was attended by some twenty friends, in honor of the approaching marriage of Miss Matthews to William D. Ryan of this city. The color scheme of yellow and white was most fitting, its lovely aspect denoting spring and happiness. Each guest gave a tribute of esteem for the bride-to-be in the form of a gift, useful or beautiful.

About the Folks

Supervisor Philip Schantz of the town of Lloyd is confined to his home in Highland by illness.

Miss Dorothy L. Huhne of the New York State College at Albany, is spending the Easter vacation at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Huhne, on Abeel street.

Richard Bruck, who has a position in the culinary department connected with a large boarding car of the Western Union telegraph construction department, which is located at Beacon, is spending a few days at his home in this city.

The Sons of Veterans, U. S. A., may change their name to Sons of the Grand Army of the Republic at the national encampment in Boston in August, according to a statement made by Commander in Chief Samuel S. Horn, of Easton, Pa., at the 36th annual encampment of the Rhode Island Division, Sons of Veterans, held at Providence, R. I., Tuesday. A year ago Tappen Camp, Sons of Veterans, took over the looking after of the the Memorial Day services and decoration of graves for the Grand Army Post of this city, as the membership of the latter is growing smaller yearly.

Indians Use Finger Print

Indian chiefs in their dealings with the United States government now use the finger and thumb print instead of their witnessed mark. This applies only to those Indians who cannot read or write.

Origin of Term "Dun"

Opinion differs as to the origin of the term "dun," used for a missive seeking to collect money. Some maintain it is derived from the French word "donnez," meaning "give," but others claim it comes from the name of Joe Dun, famous as a bailiff in the time of Henry VII, for having collected so many debts. It is said that in those days when a man refused to pay it became a saying, "Why don't you Dun him?"

Tolerance

It is great wisdom not to be rash in what we do, not to maintain too obstinately our own opinion. It is also wisdom not to believe everything that men say, not presently to pour into the ears of others things which we have heard or believed. Take counsel with a wise and conscientious man, and seek rather to be instructed by one that is better to follow thine own inventions.—Thos. A. Kemphis.

Odd Tahiti Rite

The rite of fire-walking in Tahiti as practiced by the priests is explained as follows: The stones used are basalt, of volcanic origin, porous and nonconductive. A stone heated red-hot at one end remains comparatively cool at the other. Because of this fact the native priests and their acolytes may with impunity walk over the surface of the glowing rocks.

Wouldn't Ride Free

President James Buchanan insisted on paying his fare at all times when he traveled, never receiving a pass, even though he was out of office. He would have been horrified at the idea of traveling free when he was president. Friends often heard him say: "I will pay my way while I can afford it. When I cannot afford to pay, I will stay at home."—From Inklings.

Horses From Spain

Horses were not known to the Indians prior to the advent of the white man in America. The first horse seen by the mainland Indians were those of the Spanish invaders of Mexico. A few years later De Soto brought the horse into Florida and westward to the Mississippi, while Coronado, in 1541, introduced it to the Indians of the Great Plains.

Schools in Scotland

Elementary schools were established in Scotland by the provisions of the elementary education act of 1872. Prior to that, however, education had been regulated by the Scottish parliament. As early as 1696 an act was passed for settling schools, providing for the maintenance of a school in every parish in connection with the kirk.

Maple Has Keys

The maples are popular, says the American Tree association of Washington, D. C. The maples have opposite leaves, with deeply recessed edges, and always bear keys, or seeds, with a long winglike appendage, in pairs. These are as characteristic as acorns are of the oaks. The leaves are borne in pairs, one opposite the other, along the stems.

Mixture of Six Oils Stops Catarrh

A remarkable new, scientific combination of six antiseptic oils has been perfected that brings such amazing results in catarrh, head colds, etc., that sufferers are getting relief they never believed was possible.

Druggists dispense this mixture of six oils under the name WONDEROIL. You simply apply it up the nostrils. It penetrates instantly to the inflamed membranes and air passages, clearing the nostrils in a jiffy and driving out the inflammation of deep chest colds, sore throat, etc. For croupy colds of children it can't be beat. Advance in Ready To Wear Men's Clothing Described To Rotary by E. Frank Flanagan.

Visitors from New Jersey and New York city, including C. W. Lewis, former principal of Kingston High School, were welcomed at the Rotary Club luncheon today and the proceedings were further enlivened by reports of the recently held district conference, given by President Johnson and Ernest Hicks. Further reports are expected as soon as the other delegate recovers his voice. Superintendent of Schools Michael celebrated his birthday by furnishing the cigars and E. Frank Flanagan told the Rotarians how men's clothing is made and sold.

Mr. Flanagan referred to the fact that not many years ago ready made clothing was supplied in one model only and if that didn't fit the buyer was out of luck. Now from eight to ten models are made in each size and anyone can be fitted. This means that to stock suits of a given pattern in all sizes and models requires at least 64 suits to be carried, enormously increasing the amount of capital invested by the retail dealer in his stock.

The process of manufacture was outlined and Mr. Flanagan told how cloth is wrapped in wet blankets to shrink it and at the same time test the permanency of the dye with which it has been colored. After this process the cloth is dried in sterilized air. The labor in a large clothing shop like that of Hart, Schaffner & Marx is highly specialized. 81 persons working on a coat, 61 on trousers and 39 on a vest, so that in all 181 persons each do a part in the making of a suit.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Michael Spada, infant son of Pasquale and Roscine Spada, of Glasco, died Tuesday, April 15, aged nine months. Funeral this afternoon. Interment St. Mary's Cemetery, Barclay Heights, Saugerties.

The funeral of William Yake of Brooklyn, was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Gilmore, McDonald street, Saugerties, and was largely attended. Many beautiful floral pieces were in evidence. The bearers were: Charles H. Yake, Calvin Valk, John Gilmore, Harold Farrell. Interment was in Mt. View Cemetery, Saugerties, the Rev. F. W. Herch of the Lutheran Church, officiating. Mr. Yake was a brother of Mrs. John Wolven of Main street, Saugerties.

The funeral of Mrs. Susan Clare was held this morning at 9 o'clock from the home of her daughter, Mrs Theodore Weber, at 323 Broadway, and 9:30 at St Peter's Church, where a requiem Mass was offered for the repose of her soul by the Rev J. P. Neumann. The services were largely attended by her many relations and friends and the bearers were members of the family. The Rev. J. Ostermann accompanied the remains to the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery, where the committal services and interment were held.

The funeral of Thomas J. Hickey was held from his late residence, 446 Broadway, this morning at 9:15 o'clock, and at St. Mary's Church at 10 o'clock, where a solemn high Mass of requiem was offered for the repose of his soul. The celebrant of the Mass was the Rev. John J. Duffy, assisted by the Rev. Joseph B. Scully, as deacon, and the Rev. Thomas Keane as sub-deacon. The church was filled with friends. It being one of the largest funerals held at St. Mary's in a long time. Among those present were delegations representing the Knights of Columbus, the Fourth Degree K. of C., wearing their regalia; the Elks, Cornell Hose Company, the employes in the boiler shop of Cornell Steamboat Company, and the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church. During the Mass the Chancel choir under the direction of Prof. Rieser, assisted by Joseph L. Murphy and Thomas J. Dolan sang the responses. At the offertory Mr. Dolan sang "Pie Jesu," and after the elevation Mr. Murphy sang "O, Salutaris." While the body was borne from the church Messrs. Dolan and Murphy sang "Onward, Christian Soldiers." The honorary pallbearers were Dr. John T. Buckley, the Hon. James Jenkins, Mayor Morris Block, Edgar J. Dempsey, Ivar Jungquist, Thomas Cusack, Robert J. Dwyer, William F. Rafferty, William O'Reilly, Edmund D. Tremper, John Keating, Richard Lenehan, A. H. Cook. The active pall bearers were employes of the Cornell boiler shop over which Mr. Hickey had been superintendent for many years, they being James Kelly, Michael Hayes, James Shields, Charles Beadle, Frank Stanley and Leo Schatzel. The funeral cortege to St. Mary's cemetery, where the interment was made in the family plot, was a large one. The committal service was conducted by the Rev. Joseph P. Scully of St. Mary's. The floral offerings were many and beautiful.

Katherine Bevier, third daughter of the late Louis Bevier and Catharine Van Dyck his wife, was born at the Bevier house in Marbletown, and died at Kingston on Monday, April 14, after a brief illness. She was graduated from the Normal College now Hunter College in New York city and at once began her career in the public schools. Owing to personality and exceptional success as a teacher and as a result of competitive examinations she was appointed to a principalship in 1898. For over twenty years she administered with widely recognized ability the large public school on Greenwich avenue, known as Number 41, until 1919 when she retired because of impaired health. During the war in addition to the routine duties of administration she organized in her school various forms of relief work in cooperation with the American Committee for Devastated France, receiving for this service formal recognition from the French government. During many years she devoted her leisure hours to genealogical research, studying the original records of the French Huguenots in many places, both in this country and France. In 1916 she published "The Bevier Family" which has been widely circulated and ranks as one of the standard family histories. One year ago she removed to Kingston and made her home with a life long friend, Miss Pettingill, at 142 Main street. She was all her life an active member of the church, for more than thirty years of the Central Presbyterian Church, of 57th street. When she came to live in Kingston, she joined the historic First Reformed Church, in whose records are found so many of the documents of Huguenot history.

Mastodon and Mammoth

The mammoth was an elephant, now extinct, related to and nearly the same size as the existing Indian elephant. It, however, had a long, thick, hairy coat and very long, upward-turning tusks. The mastodon is any of the numerous species of extinct elephants, which differ from the mammoth chiefly in the molar teeth, which have high conical cusps or parallel ridges with little or no cement in the interspaces. Some have small tusks in the lower jaw besides those in the upper jaw.

Electricity Part of Diet

Physiologists have come forward with the announcement that everyone eats a little electricity all the while. The cells of which the muscles of almost all animals are composed are veritable electric batteries and this is true to a degree of vegetables. Thus electricity in a very general way is held by scientists to be a part of everyone's diet. Some maintain that food which is not electrically active has little or no nourishment.

Fuller's Earth

For ages fuller's earth was used by the weavers for absorbing the oil in woolen cloth. This ancient use has now become almost a thing of the past, other processes being used, but as a toilet powder fuller's earth is invaluable, and it is still in great demand for clearing mineral oils and in the manufacture of soap.

Oil Destroyed Birds

Thousands of game birds were needlessly destroyed every season at Las Vegas, Nev., by oil discharged on waters frequented by the birds, but a railway has remedied this condition.

CREDIT FOR SUFFRAGE

By JOHN T. ADAMS,
Chairman of the Republican National Committee

To the Republican party belongs the credit for the national enfranchisement of women. The records of the two old parties upon that issue are in striking contrast.

Five times within six years, between 1913 and 1919, the Democratic party, in control of all branches of the federal government, defeated a proposal to give women full citizenship under the federal Constitution.

In May, 1919, the newly elected Republican Congress was assembled in special session. Its first act was the introduction and passage of the equal suffrage amendment. This was done within two weeks from the time the Republican Congress convened.

When this amendment was submitted to the states 37 ratified it. Of these, 30 had Republican legislatures, and only seven had Democratic legislatures. Of the eight states which refused to ratify, seven were Democratic.

In giving woman the right to vote in federal elections, the Republican party was consistent with its record. It had been a pioneer in behalf of equal suffrage for women. Twelve states—all Republican—had given women full suffrage in state affairs before the federal amendment was adopted.

This is typical of the fundamental difference between the Republican and Democratic parties upon questions affecting women and the home. Long before women had a right to vote their counsel was sought and their voice was potent in determining policies of the Republican states.

The Republican party is responsible for federal legislation creating the Women's bureau and the Children's bureau in the Department of Labor. It enacted the pure food law, the meat inspection act and the honest label laws which safeguard the food which goes into the American household.

In Republican states legislation desired by women is infinitely farther advanced than in Democratic states. This is true not only of industrial legislation, but of legislation regarding education, community activities, juvenile courts, correctional institutions and all public agencies touching and affecting womanhood, childhood and the interests of the home.

The records of the two great parties as reflected in federal and state legislation shows the Republican party has been the consistent friend and protector of American womanhood and childhood for over a half century.

More Seats for Dem. Convention

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 16.—Plans were being completed today whereby the seating capacity of Madison Square Garden can be made greater than that of any national convention hall in recent years, following decision of the national Democratic committee officials not to move the conclave to the armory in the Bronx.

The armory, which seats 30,000, had been seriously considered for a while when it was found there was no possibility of adding 5,000 seats to the 13,000 in the Garden under plans which would pass the city's building department.

Under the present plans it is hoped to increase the Garden's seating capacity to between 14,000 and 15,000.

Origin of Sheep

Sheep are somewhat of a puzzle to naturalists. What race brought them from their wild roamings to serve man is not known. Perhaps they were the first of the animals to be domesticated. The wild sheep of today have much hair and scant wool. There are more than 200 different kinds of domestic sheep and the wool buyer knows more than 600 grades of wool.—Nature Magazine.

The Hittites

That the Hittites were in constant communication with other nations is shown by the fact that Egyptian scarabs and maulets, Phoenician pottery and Greek terra cotta figures are found in the tombs of different periods. Bronze daggers and jewelry are fairly common and a safety pin, 3,000 years old, that would still work, is said to have been found.

"Stinging Tree"

The "stinging tree," a luxurious shrub, is a curious plant of Queensland, Australia. It has a peculiar odor and when touched it leaves no mark, but the pain is maddening and for months afterward the affected part is tender when touched in wet weather or when it becomes wet in washing.

Busey, Mystery Man, Arrested

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Washington, April 16.—Dr. A. C. Busey, the "man of mystery," who claimed to have knowledge of the inside story of the Mer Rouge "hooded mob" murders that shocked the nation two years ago, and who disappeared from the federal penitentiary in Atlanta several weeks ago, has been arrested in San Antonio, Texas, by department of justice agents, it was announced here today.

It was Busey who first revealed, through International News Service, that Thomas Richards, one of the men supposed to have been killed by the "hooded mob" of Morehouse Parish, Louisiana, is still alive. Richards, he declared, was kidnapped and has since been held a prisoner by the men who killed Watt Daniel.

Busey disappeared from the prison farm at Atlanta several weeks ago, following a number of visits he had received from national officers of the Ku Klux Klan. At the time, prison officials were uncertain as to whether he had simply escaped of his own volition or had been kidnapped by those who feared the exposures he was in a position to make.

Olympic Fund Is No Fund Now

Second Payment Made on Steamer But Unless $150,000 Is Forthcoming by June 1 America Will Not be Represented and Money Thus Far Paid Will be Lost.

(By Davis J. Walsh)

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 16.—Faced with the responsibility of supporting the United States Olympic team in the style to which it is accustomed, the American Olympic Committee today volunteered information that was tantamount to the plea that it is bordering on a state of insolvency. The committee, in as few words as possible stated that it was broke after paying a second installment of $40,000 on the steamship America.

A third installment is due on May 15, and in speaking of this delicate matter, the committee inferred that it might have to clutch a tin cup firmly between forefinger and thumb, don blue goggles and go out on the highways for the money that an American public seems so reluctant to advance. The committee seems to fear that patriotism will not come to a boil before June 16 when the team is scheduled to sail for Paris.

Denuded of all superfluities the committee's statement of the case follows:

"The second payment of $40,000 on the charter of the S. S. America for the American Olympic team was made on Tuesday, April 15. Extreme difficulty was encountered in raising the funds to meet this payment and the payment leaves the American Olympic Committee without funds for its current work of preparation for the games...

The suggestion that Julius H. Barnes, treasurer of the committee, would not feel affronted by the receipt of contributions was issued with the statement, gratis.

The fact of the matter is that the committee could not paint the picture any blacker than it is with an application of tar. Unless the sum of $150,000 is on hand by June 1, the Olympic invasion will prove a failure before it begins, since present plans for the transportation of the team would have to be abandoned forthwith and makeshift arrangements substituted.

Makeshift arrangements cannot hope to beat Finland and the rest of the field at Paris. It is admitted by athletic experts that only 100 per cent in transportation and maintenance of American athletes will be acceptable.

On the date mentioned the final payment on the ship will be due, and failure to meet it will mean not only the loss of the charter but all money previously paid on it. Not less than $60,000 additional will be needed at that time for the expense of construction and housing of the athletes on the other side. Meantime the expense of sending soccer, riding, revolver, polo, rifle, marathon and trap shooting teams abroad in advance of the main detachment must be met.

This cannot be done with daily subscriptions averaging less than $1,000 coming in from the entire country.

International League.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 16.—With the major league openings out of the way, the International League will stage its inaugural of the 1924 season today with threatening weather condition prevailing in Jersey City and Newark. The latter will play Toronto while the Skeeters will take on Rochester. The remaining games will see Buffalo at Baltimore and Syracuse at Reading.

TAGGING ALL THE BASES IN THE MAJOR LEAGUE.

George Sisler, the well-known invalid, found his impaired health such a handicap that all he could do was to lead his Browns to a 7 to 3 victory over the White Sox in his debut as manager. The sick man, playing his first game since 1922, handled fifteen chances at first base, drove in the first run in the opening inning and later the run that broke the tie in the fifth.

In a free scoring game, the Reds came up from the rear and beat the Pirates 6 to 5 in the ninth when Meadows became generous, passed two men and allowed Burns to single and Ronah to lift a sacrifice fly to the outfield. Wright, the new Pirate short stop, kicked two away.

Starting exactly where they left off, the Braves and Phillies, chronic also rans, staged a 6 to 6 tie in eleven innings.

The Yanks got away running by disposing of the Red Sox 2 to 1, Wambsganss kicking the game away in the ninth, with successive errors behind Ehmke. The Sox got only two hits off Shawkey and Hoyt.

Sensational fielding by Cobb, Speaker and Heilmann and Blue's home run over the centerfield fence in the sixth featured the Tiger's 4 to 3 decision over the Indians.

President Coolidge threw out the first ball and Walter Johnson mowed down the Athletics with four hits, the Senators winning 4 to 0.

The old Giant bugaboo, pitching weakness, again cropped up, the Dodgers driving Ryan from the box and beating the Giants 3 to 2. Reuther left-handed the champions to death.

The enemy was ahead when our heroes came to bat in the last half of the ninth, but virtue would not be denied. Climbing aboard Aldridge, the Cardinals hammered out three runs and beat the Cubs, 6 to 5.

BERLENBACH WITHDRAWN FROM MAY 12 PROGRAM.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, April 16.—It was announced today that Paul Berlenbach, the knockout king, had been withdrawn from the semi-final bout on the program of the Wills-Madden show here on May 12. Berlenbach was to have met Jack Lynch, Arizona, middleweight, but was prevented from doing so by the fact that he will appear at Madison Square Garden on May 9. To box in both shows would be a violation of the boxing commission's ruling that more than four days must separate the appearance of boxers in local rings.
